AFTER THE DRAG-RACE IS OVER: A 23-year-old expectant mother was killed outright Saturday evening when a car police believe was involved in a drag-race careened off a utility pole and smashed head-on into her 1951 Chevrolet. Mrs. Vernell Peters, 1527 E. 19th, died shortly after police arrived at the scene, was one of two women killed in the spectacular crash. Police and fire rescue workers (center photo) try to revive the second victim, Mrs. Carrie Mae Randle, 30, 1325 Cornell, who was thrown from the 1957 Ford driven by her husband, Roosevelt.

Randle, who witnesses say lost control of his car when he hit the Belt Railroad track at 21st and Martindale during a drag race, was arrested on a preliminary charge of involuntary manslaughter. (Recorder photos by Jim Burres)

Pregnant Lady, Drag-Racer's Wife Lose Lives in Spectacular Crash

Police blamed a 40-year-old suspected drag-racer for the gruesome head-on collision which killed two people and injured five others Saturday evening at 22nd and Martindale.

Police arrested Roosevelt Randle, 1325 Cornell, on a preliminary charge of involuntary manslaughter after his car, loaded with five other passengers, crashed head-on into an auto driven by Mrs. Vernell Peters, 1527 E. 19th.

Dead in the crash are Mrs. Carrie Mae Randle, 30, of the Cornell address, and Mrs. Peters, who lacerations, internal injuries and a doctors say was seven months pregnant.

The injured include Randle, Ersie Davidson, 39, 1557 Yandes; Mrs. Lillie Blanchard, 29, 1137 E. 15th; Gates Robinson, 47, 2209 Kilroy, and Clemen Quinn, 30, 1139 E. 15th. All were passengers in the Randle car.

According to witnesses, Randle had been drag-racing with an unidentified car when he lost control of his 1957 Ford at the Belt Railroad (21st) and Martindale. The car then spun crazily out of control, ran upon the east sidewalk, careened off a utility pole and smashed into Mrs. Peters' car headed south on Martindale.

MRS. RANDLE DIED at the hospital with facial lacerations and internal injuries, died at 8:45, more than two hours after the crash, of a ruptured diaphragm.

Randle, trapped in his car, suffered a possible broken left ankle and facial laceration. Davidson was thrown from the car and sustained injuries to his hands and right knee.

Mrs. Blanchard, also thrown clear of the car, escaped with chest injuries and abrasions, while Quinn suffered head and possible internal injuries. He, too, was thrown from the car as was Robinson, who sustained injuries to his chest and

POLICE CHIEF VOWS ACTION

NAACP Files Protest Against Police Abuse

The Indianapolis branch NAACP has lodged a protest against police abuse and brutality with Mayor Charles H. Boswell, it was learned this week.

Copies of the letter over the signature of Rev. Ford Gibson, branch president, were forwarded to The Recorder, David Silver, president of the Board of Safety, and Chief of Police Robert Reilly. "We, the officers and members of the Indianapolis branch NAACP," the letter said, "are seriously concerned over the number of instances whereby certain police officers are resorting to the infliction of grievous bodily injuries in effecting the arrest of our Negro citizens."

"We offer this letter as protest to you, as mayor of this city, against the abuse of police authority against any groups or classes of people because of their racial designation or under any other pretext whatsoever."

"We recognize the duty of an arresting officer to use every reasonable means in effecting the arrest of any person suspected of having violated our laws, but we cannot help but note that in so many instances where the arresting officer is a white person and the suspect a Negro, the transaction is generally terminated by the alleged suspect receiving severe bodily injuries at the hands of the arresting officer."

"We are further alarmed over the fact that in a great number of the aforementioned instances, the person being arrested is suspected of having committed an offense denominated by law as a misdemeanor, which, while prohibited under the law, is not considered such a grievous offense as would entail such extreme measures as are now being employed by certain officers of the police department."

"It is reported that in a number of instances the victim is denied any medical attention. "Therefore, we feel that we can no longer sit patiently by while the personal liberties of our Negro populace are being violated by what we believe to be a capricious and absolute abuse of the police authority, and we hereby implore you, as mayor of the City of Indianapolis, to employ your office, in interest of the public good and sense of fair play, to take whatever steps necessary to insure that all citizens of our community are receiving equal protection under the law."

One Thing Clear—Man WAS Shot!

At 10:58 Friday night of last week, police received a call from Miss Helen Malone who said she had just taken a shot at a prowler who tried to break into her home, 1332 W. New York.

Just three minutes later, William Johnson, 29, 942 Indiana, called to report he had just been shot in the stomach.

Johnson told police he had had an argument with his girlfriend, Miss Malone, who had shot him.

The 30-year-old Miss Malone, however, told investigators Johnson had broken a window at her home and was trying to break in when she fired at him with a .25-caliber pistol. She said she didn't know whether the bullet had found its mark.

Police arrested her on a preliminary charge of assault and battery with intent to murder.

Police Protection, Brutality Topics Of Mass Meeting

The Yankee Doodle Civic Foundation has set a mass protest meeting for Tuesday night at 7:30 at Mt. Helm Baptist Church, 17th and Yandes, Atty. Frank R. Beckwith, president, announced Thursday.

Police protection and police brutality will be discussed at the meeting, which is open to the public. Beckwith said instances have been brought to his attention where prompt police action might have averted a murder or other serious crime, but officers apparently chose to ignore the calls.

Says Department Hamstrung by No Witnesses

The Indianapolis Police Department is often hamstrung in investigations of alleged police brutality by the lack of reliable witnesses, Chief of Police Robert E. Reilly told The Recorder this week.

"We make as thorough an investigation as possible any time an officer has to use force to make an arrest," the highest-ranking police official said Monday, "but without reliable witnesses on the 'other side of the fence' what can we do?"

In a conference which the chief and Inspector Carl Schmidt requested with Recorder Reporter Bill Raspberry and Richard C. Henderson, managing editor, following emphasis laid by the paper in recent weeks to the increasing number of instances of alleged police brutality, Chief Reilly stressed that he was "concerned" about the problem, but had to be sure it actually exists.

He pointed out that every officer is required to make a special report to him in any instance of the use of force in making an arrest or whenever a charge of resisting arrest is made against any person.

He further noted that in such instances, superior officers must be called to the scene and must also report.

While he expressed confidence in all his men, he did admit that it was possible for inaccurate reports to be made, but stressed that he was constantly on the alert for anything which didn't "look right" to him.

"Why, the minute after I read the report of Don Darland (the policeman who shot a Negro man Aug. 21 under questionable circumstances), he was suspended, and he has not worked for this department one second since," the department head remarked.

"But when self-serving statements made by witnesses under arrest do not agree with those made by officers I have known to be generally reliable, can you blame me for not acting on the strength of such statements alone?" he queried.

The chief — and he was energetically underscored by Inspector Schmidt — said he is always available to persons wishing to make statements or complaints against police officers, especially persons not intimately connected with incidents, removing their testimony from the realm of "self-serving."

In stressing the important role of the disinterested witness, the police department head was in support of a recent editorial in The Recorder which pointed out that in the majority of cases where officers have been accused of "brutality" or abuses of civil rights, no one has been willing to testify except the arrested persons.

AND DON'T TRY TO DITCH ME, SISTER: The two-week-old founding known to General Hospital workers as "Baby Doe" seems distrustful of all women since his mother abandoned him in the rear of 1022 N. West last week. The unsmiling, but healthy, lad appears to be laying down the law to Student Nurse Barbara Landes, despite her friendly overtures. The infant was discovered at the N. West address by Miss Pearl Cowherd, a resident of the apartment building there. (Recorder photo by Jim Burres)

Cop Blamed in Man's Death After Bus Station Fracas

Conflicting testimony of witnesses has prompted investigations by the Police Department and Prosecutor's Office into the death Friday night of last week of a 40-year-old Greencastle man, David E. Carbon.

Carbon died in General Hospital two days after he was involved in an altercation in the Bus Terminal.

Officers Charles N. Burns and Anthony Miles went to the terminal Wednesday night after a report of a fight and arrested Carbon on charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery.

"While under arrest," Burns reported, "Carbon attempted to hit Jack Bridgewater, 43, 738 N. California. While attempting to hit Bridgewater, he lost his balance and struck his head on the floor."

The officer said Carbon previously had assaulted John McLeanda, 59, 453 1/2 E. Washington, who suffered an injured eye. Bridgewater's left eye was also injured, he said.

Burns listed as witnesses to the altercation Ervin Stone, 28, 2219 Haines, and Theodore Dickerson, 55, 710 Eugene, a porter at the station.

The case first came to The Recorder's attention through

Rev. Mozell Sanders, who said he was at the terminal when he saw the police officers drive up.

He said he entered the station behind the officers.

"This one cop," he related in a signed statement, "asked some man who was holding his hand over his eye what happened to him. He pointed to Carbon and said, 'He hit me.' The policeman asked Carbon if he did hit him, and he said 'yes.'"

"The other fellow said to the policeman, 'He said he would hit me again.' The officer asked Carbon, 'Did you say you'd hit him again?' and Carbon said 'Yes.'"

"The policeman said, 'Well, hit him, then.'"

Rev. Sanders said Carbon attempted to hit the man, whereupon the officer struck Carbon with his fist and knocked him down.

FAMILY FEUDS BLAMED IN 3 WEEKEND DEATHS

Accusations Fly, Arrests Made On 'Both Sides'

A police officer cruising near 24th and Indianapolis early Saturday morning noticed a curious crowd witnessing an argument between a man and a woman.

He investigated, and Claude Lee Smith, 44, 1049 W. 28th, told him his common-law wife, Lucille Glass, 35, 1069 Eugene, had fired two shots at him.

Mrs. Glass denied the accusation and said Smith had tried to run her down with his 1957 Buick.

But when the officer found the nine-shot nickel-plated revolver in the weeds where Smith said his mate had thrown it, he arrested the pair for being disorderly persons.

Free on Bond after Mail Theft Arrest

A 25-year-old man, arrested last week on a mail theft charge, is free on $2,000 bond.

Otha Holmes Jr., 635 W. Michigan, was accused of having in his possession stolen mail which included an unemployment compensation check. He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Lawrence T. Turner, who fixed bond.

Woman Held in Fatal Stabbing Of Her Husband

Assault charges against a 42-year-old Eastside woman, arrested for Aug. 26 stabbing of her husband, were dropped Saturday and she was re-arrested on a first-degree murder charge.

The stab victim died Friday night at General Hospital.

Fred C. Halsell, 48, 2215 Carrollton, had engaged in an argument with his wife, Mary, when she reportedly drew a knife and stabbed him at 22nd and College.

Police called to the scene found Halsell slumped unconscious beside his car, blood gushing from a stab wound.

Arrested on preliminary charges of assault and battery with intent to kill, Mrs. Halsell was ordered into Municipal Court, Room 4, on Saturday. But when Judge Pro Tem Leroy New learned Halsell had died, he had Mrs. Halsell released on the murder charge.

She was bound over to the Marion County Grand Jury.

An enraged grandfather fatally wounded his wife last weekend in an argument which started over a choice of television programs. Minutes later, the aged man himself was dead — slain by his grandson with whom he had argued.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Rucker, 1721 Bellefontaine.

Arrested on a preliminary murder charge in the death of his grandfather, was 20-year-old Marion Francis Dunson, whose part in the double tragedy halted plans for his wedding next day.

The charge was later reduced to involuntary manslaughter, and Dunson was bound over to the Marion County Grand Jury. He is free on $2,500 bond.

At 9:39 Friday night, police were summoned to 1721 Bellefontaine by a report of a woman shot. They checked the address but got no response.

Attacks Night School Offers Chance for Special Courses

Anyone with an active curiosity, a desire to learn and a willingness to share his thinking with other people will find both fun and profit in a series of adult courses offered by the Attacks Evening Division in conjunction with the Fund for Adult Education.

If 15 or more persons indicate interest in any of the available courses, classes will be held one two-hour period a week for 10 weeks.

Courses offered include The Ways of Mankind, Economic Reasoning, Parenthood in a Free Nation, Looking at Modern Painting, World Politics, American Foreign Policy and American Democracy.

Charles D. Walker, director of the evening division, hopes interest will sustain classes beyond the regular period. Since the courses are not tied in with regular enrollment, he pointed out, they can begin at any time.

The program would be supported by Attacks, with the school board providing buildings, library and administration. Students would pay the expenses of teachers.

THE NIGHT SCHOOL has prepared a brochure announcing proposed classes, and already 10,000

Bishop Raines Pulls no Punches On Church Bias

DALLAS — In a hard-hitting keynote address before the first Methodist Conference on Human Relations on Monday night, Bishop Richard C. Raines of Indianapolis challenged the denomination's forthcoming general conference to "remove any question as to whether we have segregation written into our discipline."

The outspoken bishop said, "We should speak the truth concerning the evils of Christian love and brotherhood in recognizing the God-given dignity and rights of man."

"We should put these enunciated principles to work in our churches, schools, hospitals, homes and all other institutions owned or controlled by the Methodist church."

He spoke before some 1,200 Methodist leaders attending the conference at Southern Methodist University here.

"The integration of the public school system," Bishop Raines continued, "may well involve making less effective, temporarily, education of the white group. But there is no reason why the suffering or the inconvenience should continue to be borne almost exclusively by

MILWAUKEE (ANP) — Several Negroes, whose last names were listed on police blotters as "X", were arrested here last week.

At first they declined to give their surnames, but finally agreed to fully identify themselves. They told police they were Muslims (or Moslems) and followers of Elijah Muhammed of Chicago who tells Negroes that they will soon be freed of the "white man's yoke."

Police showed some concern because of unrest noted among Negroes in certain sections of this city. According to a police lieutenant, some merchants have been pressured into hiring Negro help. One firm complained it had been threatened with shopliftings unless Negro help was hired.

Recently, an ice cream store was picketed for the same reason. Yet, police officers say they cannot pin this unrest to the Muslims.

Muhammed, who claims to be a "messenger of Allah," says he has 250,000 followers, but other sources credit him with only about 70,000. There are an estimated 100,000 "orthodox" Moslems in the United States.

A district judge said there had been a few members of the suspect sect brought before him last year, but the charges were based on individual misbehavior rather than cult activity.

A local Negro leader, Cornoff Taylor, executive secretary of the Human Rights Commission, said there had been a "sprinkling" of Muslims in the city, but knew of no trouble caused by the cult.

In Washington, D. C., both congressional committees investigating subversion denied rumors they would call representatives of this group before them for questioning.

A spokesman for the House Committee on Un-American Activities said they had received correspondence dealing with the cult, but planned no investigation. The Senate Committee on Internal Security stated emphatically that it had scheduled no hearings for Muslims.

on County Grand Jury, and bond set at $5,000.
Halsell, reported in poor condition in last week's Recorder, died Friday afternoon at 4:30.
Appearing in court as a witness was Youel Jones, also of the Carrollton address.

JONES TOLD THE COURT he sustained a head injury when he tried to stop the couple's fight. Mrs. Halsell struck him over the head with a TV antenna, he reported.
The 38-year-old Jones said he would not press charges.
Services for Halsell were held Tuesday in Stuart Mortuary, with burial in New Crown cemetery.
Born in Louisville, he had lived here 14 years and was a member of First Baptist Church, North Indianapolis.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Leatrice Roney; two sons, James Taylor and Charles V. Halsell, and 13 grandchildren, all of Indianapolis.

likewise drew a blank.
Then, some 10 minutes later, a second call came to Police Headquarters, saying that "some people" were shot at the Bellefontaine address.

Upon their second arrival, the officers were met by Dunson and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Clark of the same address.
THE CLARKS SAID they had come home about 8:30 and found straight up their apartment. They said they heard nothing unusual until about 9:30. Even then, they paid no attention, they reported.

DUNSON FIRST TOLD officers his grandfather had shot his grandfather, then committed suicide, but when confronted with some loopholes in his account, the youth broke down and admitted he had fired the shot which killed his grandfather.
The groom-to-be said he came home about 9:30, turned on the television and had settled back to watch "77 Sunset Strip," when Mr. Rucker walked over and switched channels to get the championship boxing match between Carmen Basilio and Gene Fulmer.
Dunson said he asked his grandfather why he had changed the station, and the aged man, in a fit of rage stormed into his bedroom. Knowing the older man kept guns and ammunition in the bedroom, Dunson, fearing for his life, ran to his own bedroom, he related.

"I shut the door and grabbed my rifle and loaded it with five shells," he told police.
"From outside the door, I could hear my grandparents arguing. Then I heard something fall to the floor."
Dunson said he cracked the door and saw his grandfather pointing a double-barrel shotgun at his wife, who already was on the floor. "He then pulled the trigger," the youth said.

Mrs. Rucker, shot in the small of her back, apparently died instantly.
The grandson said he heard two shots and, after witnessing the shooting, ran to the living room just as his grandfather started toward the front bedroom.
"I knew he had a small revolver, and when I saw him reach under the pillow, I thought he was going after it."

"I RAISED MY RIFLE and fired five times through the doorway at him, then called police."
It was not immediately determined how many shots actually struck the aged victim, but three slugs were taken from the wall behind him.
Police said they found a .38-caliber revolver under a mattress in the bedroom where Rucker was shot.

Dunson was to have been married Saturday morning at 10 to Miss Mary Bennett, 3212 Winthrop. Services for Mrs. Rucker were held Tuesday at New Bethel Baptist Church, King and King Funeral Home in charge, with burial in New Crown cemetery.
She was a member at New Bethel and active with its organizations, including the senior choir, Pastor's Aid and missionary society.
She had worked for 28 years at National Malleable Steel and Castings Company.
Survivors include two daughters, Mesdames Elvora Dunson and Elzora Clark; a sister, Mrs. Anna Helmes, Hiseville, Ky.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MR. RUCKER WAS BURIED in New Crown on Wednesday after services in the chapel of Boatright Funeral Home.
He was retired from National Malleable Company.
Survivors include four sons, Fred and Gordon Rucker, Atlanta; Marion Rucker, Chicago, and Garland Rucker, Indianapolis; three daughters, Mesdames Bessie Peters, Geneva Dunn and Jewell Turner, all of Indianapolis, 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Former Shibler Assistant Named New Schools Head

George F. Ostheimer, acting superintendent of public schools since the forced resignation June 30 of Dr. Herman L. Shibler, has been chosen to succeed the man whose assistant he had been for the past four years.
Ostheimer took the oath of his new office in ceremonies Aug. 27. With the Indianapolis public school system for 23 years, the new superintendent will earn more than $427 a week in his new post, starting salary for which is $18,500 a year. While this figure represents a raise of $600 a year for the 57-year-old Ostheimer, it is $2,000 less than Dr. Shibler's salary.
As assistant superintendent, Ostheimer's duties included hiring of teachers for the public schools here. He has expressed confidence in his staff, and Ralph W. Husted, president of the board, said the Board of School Commissioners "has the utmost confidence that its wishes will be interpreted to the staff."

DR. SHIBLER, whose recent resignation took Indianapolis by surprise, told The Recorder, "The reason I resigned was because the board asked my resignation."
"It was just as much a surprise to me as to you. I had no indication it was going to happen and neither did my staff."
Once named to The Recorder's Human Relations Honor Roll for his leadership in school desegregation, Dr. Shibler said the three main reasons given for his resignation demand were his failure to protect the board members against pressure groups, pushing for annual, instead of semester, promotions and pushing for elementary school libraries.
"Whatever the real reasons were, I still don't know," he said. "Your judgment is as good as mine—you've lived in Indianapolis."
He was to remain as a consultant until Jan. 1.

ALVIN RENO
Alvin Reno, 841 W. 28th, was re-elected imperial treasurer of the Imperial Council of the Ancient Arabic, Egyptian Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine at the recent imperial session at Los Angeles.
A life resident of Indianapolis, Reno has served as imperial treasurer for the past three years. He is past master of the Southern Cross Lodge No. 39, F. and A.M., and a member of all the local Masonic bodies.
He announced Tuesday that more than $300,000 of Shrine money is on deposit in local banks. Reno is owner of the painting and cabinet making company which bears his name and is a 33rd Degree Mason.

Carnade Whitley
Services for Carnade Whitley, 63, were held Sept. 1 in the Patton Funeral Home, with burial in Crown Hill cemetery. He died Aug. 28 in his home, 2809 Ruckle.

TRAGEDY STRIKES TWICE: Hailed into court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of his 65-year-old grandfather is Marion F. Dunson Jr., 20, who lived with grandparents at 1721 Bellefontaine. With Dunson (center, first photo) are his father and Atty. Wilbur Grant. Police called to the Bellefontaine address Friday night found Kelly Rucker lying across his bed, dead of rifle wounds. The lifeless form of his wife, Mary, 59, was sprawled on the floor of another bedroom. Dunson told police he killed his grandfather after the aged man shot Dunson's grandmother. Homicide Sgt. Oren Hunter examines the double-barrel shotgun police believe killed Mrs. Rucker. (Recorder photos by Jim Burres)

Suspended Term for White Farmer Who Killed as 'Joke'

RALEIGH, N. C. (ANP) — A white farmer who shot and killed a young Negro as a "joke" has received a suspended sentence of three to five years.
Victim of the "joke" was William Person, 28-year-old father of four. The farmer, Roger Earl Williams,

38, told a magistrate he was a friend of the dead man and that he "fired at him in fun to make him run faster as he darted across a field." The bullet struck Person in the back. Although the magistrate absolved Williams of any blame, the Wake County Grand Jury indicted him for manslaughter. He was ordered to pay $2,750 to the victim's family.

Huggins Appliances Salesman All-Out for All-Time High

Thomas Jones believes he has a really outstanding product in Admiral television sets and, as sales director for Huggins Appliances, 159 E. Southern, is going all-out to boost sales to an all-time high.
Tom has invited fair-goers to stop by and chat with him at the Huggins booth in the Manufacturers building.
The store, corner of Madison and Southern, is open daily 9 to 9 and Sundays 12 to 6.
Convinced that anyone who sees one of the new Admiral sets in operation will probably buy one, "TV Tom" says he'll give free home demonstrations — absolutely without obligation — to anyone who calls him at ST. 7-5349.
And so confident is Admiral of the quality of its product, it has adopted the slogan, "The heart of your TV is guaranteed for five years — if it's Admiral."
THE WORLD'S LEADING manufacturer, Admiral has pioneered in etched satellite circuitry — words which probably mean little to the average television fan until it is understood that this wiring process, which actually costs more than old-fashioned hand wiring, makes Admiral sets completely resistant to jolts and jars, eliminates human errors in wiring and soldering, requires least servicing of all TV parts and eliminates 105 potential trouble spots.
Admiral is the standard of the television industry in 90 percent of all sets made.
Admiral's hidden extras make it the world's most dependable TV.
THESE EXTRAS INCLUDE gated automatic gain control, which locks the picture in, eliminates signal fade and flutter and protects the picture from all interference; automatic circuit breaker, which protects components from damaging overloads, eliminating the need for fuses and cutting service calls.
The automatic dynamic focus control brings every square inch of screen into precise focus, ends distortion and improves the picture, and the adjacent channel sound trap eliminates interference in multiple signal areas and allows

Women's Day Chairman at Bethel Serving in Capacity Second Time

FANNIE D. JEWELL

ERMA D. TAYLOR

Chatting with the FAC

By ELSA JACKSON

At 10:15 Saturday night 28 persons will leave Union Station, bound for a holiday weekend enjoying Niagara Falls. The group will spend a day of sight-seeing on Sunday, while Monday will be a free day. This, the second Labor Day trip to the Falls under auspices of the FAC, is the result of popular request for a repetition of the 1958 trip.

The group will stay at the Hotel Lafayette in Buffalo. Leaving at 5:15 Monday afternoon, they are to arrive here at 3 Tuesday morning.

Starling W. James, FAC president, and Mesdames Priscilla Dean Lewis, Minnie Ritchie and Dorothy Wilson had a conference Tuesday with Mayor Boswell, as the FAC is interested in learning the reason for the mayor's attitude toward the Human Rights Commission.

The same group had a conference with Miss Margaret Barto, executive secretary of the Metropolitan YWCA, to learn the reason for the closing of the Phyllis Wheatley Branch YWCA.

Affiliated organizations of the FAC will receive letters this week asking for participation in the annual All-FAC Tea next month.

Mesdames Helen Hall and Mae Moorman, who had to cancel their reservations for the FAC tours because of illness and personal injuries, will be unable to take their places in classrooms when school opens.

The FAC is praying for the speedy recovery of these two women and for Harry Goers, husband of Mrs. Lillian Goers, who remains ill in his home. Prayers also go out for Mrs. Helen Perkins and for James Woodridge, husband of Mrs. Clo Woodridge, who are ill in the hospital.

Mr. James has received a letter from Mrs. Mildred Orrid, one of the Mexico tourists, who left Los Angeles by plane Monday for Hawaii. She will return to the States on Sept. 21 and settle at her new home in New York City.

The FAC calendar is looking natural again, with many dates having been filled for early fall affairs. Officers are always happy to welcome group back during the fall and winter season.

Emphasis is being placed on a good attendance at the annual travelogue, set for Friday, Sept. 25, at 8. Many are eager to hear the principal speaker, Mrs. Katherine Taylor of Louisville. All three of the 1959 tours will be covered — those to the Tulip Festival at Holland, Mich.; to Mexico and to Niagara Falls.

Dinner will be served in the newly-decorated Aron Room preceding the travelogue. Friends may make reservations.

The FAC and NAACP will hold a joint meeting Saturday, Sept. 12, as sort of a kick-off for their participation in the Register-and-

Mrs. Fannie D. Jewell and Mrs. Erma D. Taylor are two good reasons why "Women's Day" at Bethel AME Church will be a grand success when it climaxes Sept. 13. This is the second time Mrs. Jewell has been selected by the official board of the church to serve as general chairman, having served previously in 1954.

She was selected to serve as general chairman because of her charming personality, her business-like manner, her spontaneous friendliness and her fine ability for leadership.

Mrs. Jewell is a senior steward of the church and president of the Young Adult Fellowship Forum. She also serves as a volunteer office worker on the special church bulletin. She is past matron of Purity Chapter No. 51, OES, past grand editor of the Prince Hall Grand Chapter and is now employed as bookkeeper in the Center Township Trustees' office.

With her talent for organizing, she has set up a network through her committees to make sure that, from every source, a search is made for talented women participants in preparation for the great day.

Mrs. Taylor, co-chairman very competently assisting Mrs. Jewell, is a teacher in the city school system, having taught for a number of years at School No. 87. She will begin teaching at School No. 52 this month.

A very loyal member of Bethel, she serves as counselor for Girl Scout's Brownie Troop No. 929 and Intermediate Troop No. 935. She is a member of Phi Delta Kappa sorority.

She was selected because of her pleasing personality, her excellent qualities of resourcefulness and her ability to work with people. She will serve as master of ceremonies.

Evangelist Mary Watson Stewart of Detroit will be guest speaker of the day, and Miss Hazel Ward will be guest soloist.

Serving as captain will be Mesdames Louise Davis, Elizabeth Stewart, Margaret E. Smith, Alpha Henderson, Earle Combs, Marie Ford, Alice E. Bowins, Vivian Marbury, Mabel Hobson, Frances Howard, Willa Langford, Laura Delaney, Sarah Freeman, Henri Gibson, Ora Mae Blake Kinner, Lillian Stearns, Fannie Mae Hackney, Geneva Smith, Hula Davenport and Flora Bates.

Officers of the day will be Mesdames Lois Trigg, June Barker, Vivian Marbury, Sarah Freeman, Lunetta Thompson and Glenda Robinson and Lucy Belle DuPee.

A cordial invitation is extended to all denominational congregations.

Rev. C. T. H. Watkins is pastor, and Mrs. Marie Bartee is reporter. (ADV.)

Vote campaign

The Puella Amicas were guests of Mrs. Bessie Conn, 2522 Winthrop, last Saturday night. Mrs. Naomi Jordan assisted the hostess in serving a most delicious dinner. Mrs. Anna Bell Williams, Mrs. Clara Bridgeforth, president, and Miss Carrie Beasley were prize winners.

Mrs. Charlotte Hill will be hostess to the next meeting and will be assisted by Mrs. Williams.

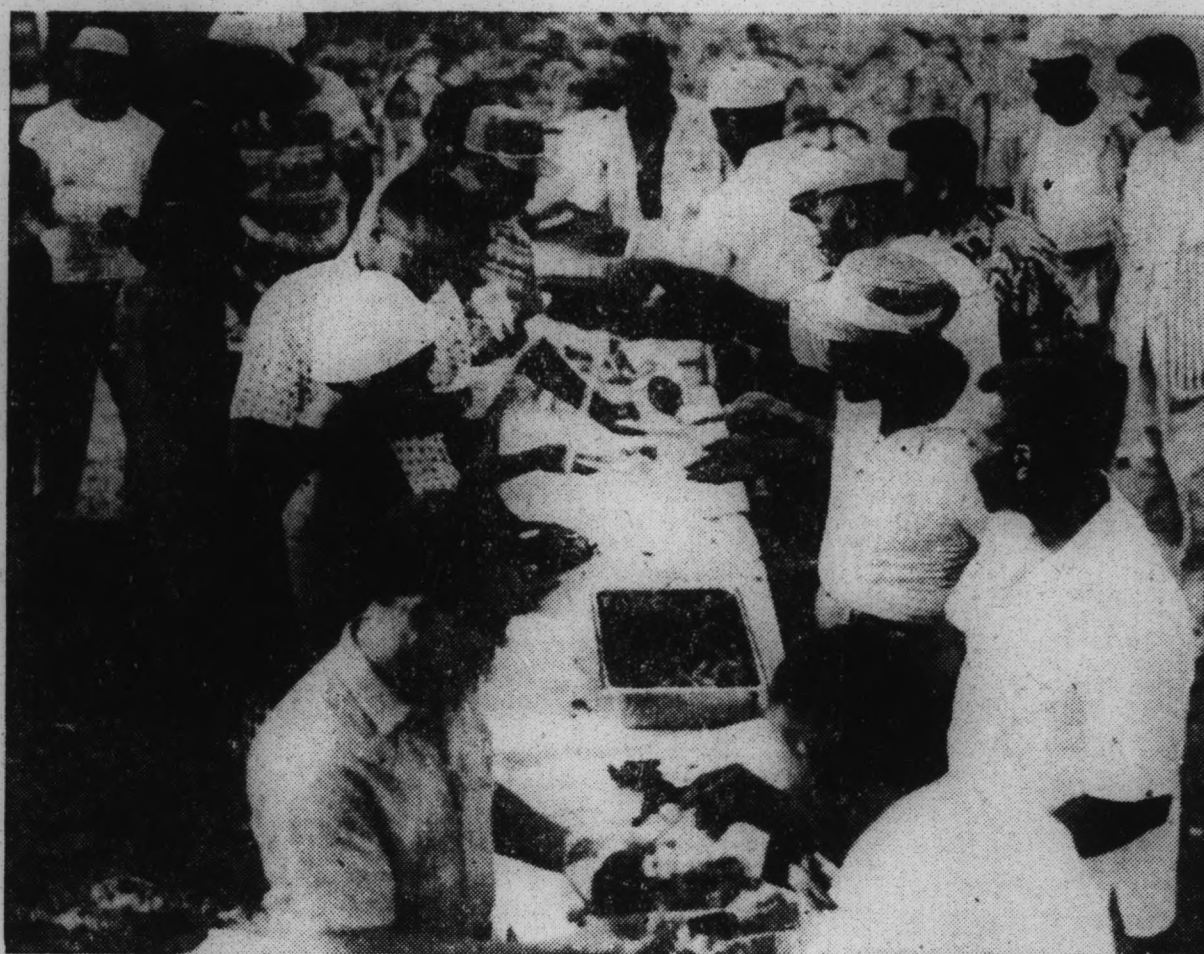

Mr. Nina Brown, vice-president and reporter for the club, had her vacation recently, visiting a brother in New York, cut short. She was called to Tennessee to the bedside of her father. She says her father was somewhat improved early this week.

We haven't heard from Mrs. Nora Hector this week, but do hope she continues to improve.

BABY "QUEEN": Little Miss Kim Elaine Hubbard, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hubbard, 3324 N. Capitol, is the 1959 "Queen of the Babies" as result of winning the recent baby contest sponsored by the Janette club. Runners-up were Darrell Leroy McCauley, Ann Brown, Mary Etta Eldridge and Sandra Porter.

ENJOY PICNIC: Some 400 guests and members of the popular Cosmo Knights club enjoyed the group's annual picnic last Sunday in the shade of the Moose Lodge grounds near Glenn Valley. The heavily-laden food tables were constant centers of attention as an endless offering of food and drink was on hand for the picnicers' delectation. James Cruce, picnic chairman, was responsible for the success of the affair. James V. Dabner is president. (Recorder photo by Jim Burres)

Rev., Mrs. G. C. Mills Fete Granddaughter Visiting City

Rev. and Mrs. Grover C. Mills, 129 W. 43rd, entertained their little granddaughter, Miss Karen Sue Woodson of Los Angeles, with a garden party recently. More than 50 young people made a beautiful picture as they played games on the back patio and lawn, surrounded with snapdragons, gladioli, verbena, asters and roses.

Sixteen prizes were given. The Misses Delores Plummer and Carolyn McGee were hostesses, serving from the attractively-decorated table laden with punch, cake, candies and nuts.

Karen was the recipient of many surprise gifts.

She was also entertained with picnic parties at Douglas and road Ripple Parks by Mesdames Lee Lively and G. C. Mills and yard picnics by Mesdames Edward Dixon and Forrest Beard.

She is the daughter of Arthur H. Woodson, instructor at Manassas high school in Memphis, and Mrs. Lena R. Miller, teacher in Los Angeles.

A number of boys and girls were at Weir Cook Airport last month to see Karen off on her flight home.

Calypsos' Plans Completed for 'Bohemian Dance'

MAKES FLIGHT ALONE. Pretty little seven-year-old Miss Karen Sue Woodson flew here alone from Los Angeles for a recent visit with her grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Grover C. Mills.

The Calypsos have completed plans for their second "Bohemian and Beatnik" dance to be held Saturday night at King's Union Hall, 617 W. Washington, from 9 until 2.

Mrs. Helen Baker Hickman will be featured in a special dance number. Mrs. Hickman, who danced at the Alphas' "Holiday Dance" last Saturday at the K. of C. Hall, is a student at Indiana University.

Refreshment will be served at the dance, for which advance tickets are on sale. They may be purchased from any of the club members.

The affair will be the last function of the year for two members of the club who will be leaving the city to reside in New York and New Jersey. They are Miss Virginia Pettigrew and Mrs. Laura Williams Upshaw, who will become honorary members of the club.

Other members are the Misses Lois Jean Avery, Bonnie Hust, Brenda Dickey, Judith Lockett, Lillian Thompson, dance chairman, and Rosie Cheatham, publicity chairman. Sponsors are Mesdames Queen Cook and Lillian Avery. The Calypsos pledge group will be introduced at the dance.

Clubs

AMERICAN WAR MOTHERS. Indianapolis Chapter No. 41, will meet Sunday at 4 with Mrs. Agnes Bruce, 782 Edgemont.

ANGELS met with Mrs. Agnes Barker, 923 1/2 Paca. Plans were made for a bus trip to Cincinnati on Sunday and also for a fall dance to be held Sept. 26 at the IEW Hall. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Dorothy Dinkins, 2433 Sheldon.

BAYLONS met with Miss Betty Courtney, 2418 Rural, and discussed plans for a "splash party" to be given before school starts. This week's meeting was to be with Miss Melvyn Davis, 3043 Winthrop.

DEL-TAS met with Miss Ann Hammond, 3819 Boulevard, and made plans for a dance to be given Sept. 12 at the ISTA Building. Next meeting will be with Miss Doris Ellis, 3732 N. Kenwood.

SOUTHSIDE FLORAL will meet Wednesday with Mrs. Ethel Young, 1430 S. Kappes.

WIDOW LADIES will meet Sunday with Mrs. Annie Wallace, 735 Indiana. Assisting as hostess will be Mrs. Emma Fields.

Naomi Davis, Visitor Are Dinner Guests

Mrs. Naomi Davis and her guest, Mrs. Lulu Hedgepath Paxton of Covington, Ky., formerly a resident of this city, were entertained at dinner last Sunday by Mesdames Effie P. LeMonde and Dolie Thompson at their home, 833 W. 25th.

LEADER FETED: Following her appearance as principal speaker for the "Back-to-School" mass meeting sponsored Sunday at Peoples Temple by the Indianapolis NAACP Youth Council and other youth groups, Miss Barbara Posey, president of the Oklahoma City NAACP Youth Council, was feted at a reception at the home of Miss Betty Turner (right), secretary of the local labor and industry committee. As Miss Turner pours for Miss Posey, looking on are Miss Sandra Malone, also of the committee, and Amos Brown, chairman of the national Youth Work committee and president of the local and state youth organizations. About the FRONTIERS' Benefit Artists and Models Ball and Revue

Who is the "Dream Girl" in the "Artists and Models Revue"? She's beautiful and just as enchanting as the melodies Roy Hamilton will sing.

INTERESTING — The funds raised from this benefit "Artists and Models Ball and Revue" will provide for the Frontiers' hearing detection project, to process and refer for special attention more than 200 children between the ages of 5 and 7, within the next year.

TICKETS: RIVIERA CIRCLE (Ringside Reserved), $4.50; BALCONY BOX (Reserved), $4; GENERAL ADMISSION, $3. On sale at James Pharmacy, 21st and Senate; Paris Beauty Salon, 2709 Northwestern; Fall Creek Parkway YMCA or any Frontier committee member. (ADV.)

Voice of the Eastside

By MARY P. MCGUIRE

"Praise the Lord... Praise the Lord... May the Lord bless you and all your people!" These were typical of the remarks made by many women and men of the Marion County Home when nurses of Mt. Paran Baptist Church gave the group a big picnic last Sunday afternoon.

They were under the leadership of Mrs. Lula Johnson, who was assisted by Mesdames Sartille Jamerson, first vice-president; Ruth Davis, second vice-president; Helen Grace, recording secretary; Frances Franklin, financial secretary; and Pearl Coleman, chaplain.

Mrs. Beatrice Holifield, the treasurer, is also a general chairman of the annual tea and fashion review, receipts from which go for preparation for such affairs.

The Ole Scribe was told that seven hams, 50 pounds of potato salad, 30 dozen eggs, five gallons of punch concentrate and six stocks of bananas were purchased for the picnic.

Too much credit cannot be given the men, Alex Holifield, Fred League and Silas Smith, who brought persons in wheelchairs from the building to the picnic grounds and saw that they were taken back to their quarters.

The Mt. Paran nurses have also served the mixed groups of Wards 5 and 9 and under the fine sponsorship of Mrs. Holifield has added a beauty shop for those desiring to have their hair taken care of without charge. They have an annual Christmas party for the 200 or more residents, and the nurses also bring persons in to town to attend church services.

The nurses have a staff of 50 ready for service under the pastorate of Rev. C. Henry Bell.

Last Sunday morning in New Bethel Baptist Church a wedding was read by Rev. F. R. Hatcher, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church and a member of New Bethel.

The bride, Miss Norma Jean Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll, was united in marriage with Bertram Thurlow King.

Miss Jeanne Davis was maid-of-honor, and John King of Maywood, Ill., was best man.

Mrs. Idella Overton played the wedding marches, while Kenneth Reed sang. Pulpit ministers were Rev. A. T. Washington, serving in the absence of the pastor, Dr. F. Benjamin Davis, while on vacation, and Joshua Cutler, who extended benediction.

A reception was held after the wedding.

Mrs. Edna Sherron, 1906 Cornell, has returned from Washington, D. C., where she spent a month with her daughter and son-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Jacobs. Mrs. Sherron reports her laughter is doing fine in government work, and that they have just purchased a beautiful new all-brick home.

She mentioned another lovely home of friends, a $25,000 structure which she says is one of the loveliest she has seen anywhere.

You are never too old to learn! The Attucks night school classes will be open for registration Sept. 8-10 and 14-15 from 5:30 to 9. Classes will begin Sept. 14, with just about any subject, trade, business or professional training one would desire being offered, plus

Former Juvenile Court Worker Is Named Presbyterian Field Advisor

Samuel H. Johnson has been named field counselor for the Southeastern Area of the United Presbyterian Church, USA, effective Sept. 1.

Working with the educational counseling service of the Department of Educational and Medical Work, Board of National Missions, Johnson's headquarters will be in Atlanta.

The Southeastern Area comprises Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Because of the board's concern in making guidance services available to youth, an educational counseling service has been established in areas where the board has long had an interest in education.

Through counselors, such as Mr. Johnson, who will work with students and their families, this non-institutionalized service is designed to help youth to make realistic plans for the future.

"Actually," Johnson feels, "today's young people have had no first-hand experience with anything but abnormal times. Many of our young people are being tempted to leave school as soon as they become old enough to secure whatever jobs are available in factories, mills, shipyards and offices."

"Others go directly from high school into the armed services, and a considerable percentage of these will not return to school."

"Again, some young people suffer from lack of life significance. Without a satisfying religious affiliation and meaningful work that makes them feel they are part of a venture bigger than themselves, teenagers may drift aimlessly and dangerously."

"There is a call for us to capitalize on the innate capacities of youth. The counseling service is being provided to serve some of these needs."

3,000 Expected Here For CME Conference

By WILLA THOMAS

Some 3,000 delegates are expected here next week for the 26th annual session of the Ohio Christian Methodist Episcopal Conference, meeting Sept. 8-13 at Phillips Temple CME Church, Rev. H. L. Burton, pastor.

Delegates are expected from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and other parts of the country.

Rt. Rev. Luther Stewart, Hopkinsville, is presiding bishop. Rev. James L. Cummings, pastor of Trinity CME Church here, is conference secretary, and Mrs. H. L. Burton is vice-president of the Women's Missionary Conference.

Bishop Stewart will preside at the 12 noon conference of the CME Cabinet on Tuesday. The conference proper will open at 4, with celebration of the Holy Communion.

Delegates will be welcomed Tuesday evening at 7:30 with a reception by the host church. Participating in the official welcome will be representatives of the church, Church Federation and the Interdenominational Ministers Conference.

The Women's Missionary Department will meet in special session Friday at 7:30. Delegates from the various churches will appear on the program.

Rev. Cummings will sponsor the youth of the conference in their meeting Saturday evening at 7:30. The conference will close Sunday with 11 o'clock worship and the reading of appointments by the bishop.

Bishop Stewart is former editor of the denomination's official organ. His keen insight into human life, knowledge of men and the church, his strong retentive powers, ability to appraise situations and his native preaching ability coupled with his high state of social consciousness render him a valuable leader.

The conference is noted for its world missionary program, having brought many foreign students to this country to aid in their education.

Bishop P. Randolph Shy, presiding prelate of the Seventh Episcopal District, will be special guest of the conference. Other guests will include bishops, general officers, ministers and church leaders from all over the country.

Officiating during the conference will be Rev. E. A. Woodlowe, Dayton, treasurer; Mrs. W. M. Stewart, supervisor of the Woman's Missionary Society; W. A. Wilkes, president of the laymen; Mrs. Margaret Slaughter, president of the Business and Professional Women's group; Mrs. Zelma Telford, director of the Mattie E. Coleman Circle, and Mrs. Thelma Brown, president of the stewardesses.

PRESIDING ELDERS will include Revs. O. A. Calhoun, C. Thomas and T. H. Hudson. Revs. E. Fitten, H. L. Burton, W. C. Crenshaw, Woodrow Wooten, Charles Gregory, Harry Wade and Ernest Gilbert are members of the Joint Board of Finance.

Serving on standing committees will be Revs. S. Shaw and J. V. Noel, admissions; J. L. Cummings and M. Hayes, first and second-year studies; W. C. Crenshaw, M. C. Merrifield and L. Johnson, third-year studies, and K. C. Henry and W. J. Tucker, fourth-year studies.

Revs. J. B. Harris, H. L. Burton and J. C. Coles, Harry Woodson and Mesdames Gladys Perry and Annie Rucker are members of the education board, and Revs. O. A. Calhoun, T. H. Hudson and Cornell Thomas will serve on the Committee on Committees.

Mrs. Burton is a member of the Woman's Executive Board.

The public has been invited to attend the daily sessions.

Under the leadership of Dr. Burton, more than 400 new members have been added to the host congregation. Many new organizations have been formed, and land has been secured for a 300-car parking lot.

A former delegate to the denomination's General Conference and the World Methodist Conference, the host minister is president of the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance of Indianapolis.

"A part of the job will be to help recognize intellectual talent as a national resource, using the available means to discover it and put it to maximum use."

Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Attucks high school and finished the pre-medical sequence at Indiana University, receiving an A.B. degree in chemistry.

He also holds an M.A. degree in social service and an M.S. degree in education from the same school and is certified as a guidance supervisor by that institution.

Prior to his return to school, Mr. Johnson worked as a medical technician at the Eli Lilly research laboratory here and at Hines V. A. Hospital in Chicago.

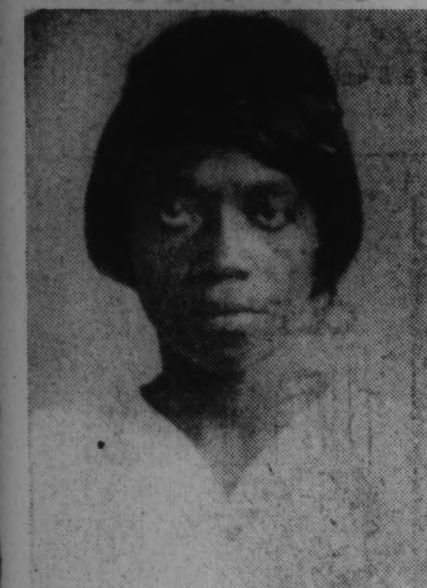

He studied electroencephalography at the Illinois Neurological Institute and attended seminars at McGill University, Montreal; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and Duke University, Durham, N. C., preparatory to beginning work as a technician at the Tuskegee V. A. Hospital, and later set up a similar department at the IU Medical Center.

While in school, Johnson worked parttime as boy worker at the Eastside Christian Center and was associated with the Family Service Association as family life educator.

Ida Bell Barnett Was AME Zion Minister's Wife

IDA BELL BARNETT

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Bell Barnett, 56, 542 N. Blackford, were held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 4, in Jones Tabernacle AME Zion Church, of which she was a member, with burial in Floral Park, Jacobs Brothers Westside Chapel in charge.

She died Aug. 29 in her home. Born in Cumberland City, Tenn., she had lived here 40 years. Her husband, Rev. Benjamin H. Barnett, was formerly pastor of Campbell Chapel AME Zion Church and at present is conference evangelist for the denomination.

Other survivors include two daughters, Mesdames Mary L. Johnson and Martha Brown; two sons, Marvin L. and John E. Barnett; a brother, Ernest L. Fentress, and four grandchildren.

Clara Carrico Was 'Mother' Of Community

The entire neighborhood mourned last week upon learning of the death of Mrs. Clara Carrico, 2710 N. Oxford.

She died Saturday, Aug. 22, in her home. She was 59.

Since Mrs. Carrico came to Indianapolis from Hardin County, Ky., 39 years ago, she had endeared herself to her neighbors, young and old. She was lovingly referred to as the "mother" of the community.

The beloved housewife, who formerly operated a variety store, was an active church worker. A charter member of the Church of God at 2531 James, she was president of the choir and "church mother."

Service were conducted Aug. 26 at the church by the Willis Mortuary, with burial in Floral Park cemetery.

Survivors include her husband, Nathan Carrico; two sisters, Mesdames Minnie Artis and Geneva Phillips; seven brothers, Garvin, Walter, Fonrose, Leonard, Charles, John and James Grundy, all of Indianapolis, and more than 120 nieces and nephews.

Rev. Logan Starks

Funeral services for Rev. Logan Starks, 82, 1439 W. 28th, were held Sept. 3 in First Baptist Church, North Indianapolis, with Stuart Mortuary in charge. Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery.

Rev. Starks died Aug. 31 in his home.

Born in Glasgow, Ky., he had lived here 12 years. Before coming to Indianapolis he was pastor for 50 years in Hopkinsville, Cave City, Popular Grove and Greenville, Ky.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Della Starks; five daughters, Mesdames Dorothy Smith, Myrtle Brooks, Gladys Taylor, Zula Coffey and Nellie Winfrey, all of Indianapolis; four sons, Byron of Cleveland, Delmar of Chicago, Olen of Nashville, Tenn., and Ben, Indianapolis; two sisters, Mesdames Carrie Heater, Indianapolis, and Rossie Fant, Louisville, and a brother, Eural Starks, Dayton.

copies have been sent out to former pupils, homes and churches.

The response to date has been healthy, Walker revealed. Many have written in and others have called.

"We are now trying to broaden our program," he said. "We have already offered elementary and high school education and, of course, will continue to do so.

"But now, we are reaching out for adult education in earnest. We believe the community will be immeasurably enriched by active participation in this program of specialized interest for serious-minded adults."

There are no educational requirements for participation in any of the courses.

members of the minority group.

"AND IN THE LONG RUN, society will be rewarded by granting justice in equality of educational opportunity."

"We can work, step by step, slowly but surely, toward the goal of equality in education which, as I see it, means integration."

He acknowledged that many members of his denomination are diametrically opposed to his views and that the church "has lagged behind the social and cultural agencies of the community."

"The temptation is always insidiously present," he asserted, "to base the membership of a church on congeniality—those whose incomes, social practices and whose tastes conform to our own standards."

"When people of any social standing or financial circumstances are made to feel uncomfortable, are not accepted, the church has begun to lose the presence of the spirit of God, has begun to lose its power, has begun to degenerate into a good, private, respectable, religious club."

Attucks Librarian Now in Charge at Rauh, Riverside

Mrs. Betie Collins, formerly Attucks branch librarian, has been appointed to the position of branch librarian for two libraries.

She will be in charge of Rauh Memorial library, 3024 N. Michigan, and Riverside branch library, 3101 Clifton.

The appointment was revealed by Harold J. Sander, director of the Indianapolis Public Library system.

Mrs. Collins, a member of the public library staff since 1945, was children's librarian at the Haughville branch before coming to Attucks in September, 1956.

After taking her undergraduate degree at Kentucky State College, she received an advanced degree from the Atlanta University School of Library Science.

Indiana Central Sets Orientation Week Activities

The Indiana Central College campus will begin to hum with activity again after Labor Day as faculty and staff members return and new students arrive for orientation week.

The first event will be the faculty and staff institute on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 8 and 9.

Freshmen and other new students will get their introduction to the college with a series of tests, lectures, entertainment and recreation beginning Thursday, Sept. 10.

Returning students will be on the campus with the newcomers for registration on Monday, Sept. 14. Classes in the evening division will meet for the first time that night, and day classes will begin Tuesday, Sept. 15.

it across his nose for about 15 minutes, but he never regained consciousness.

Rev. Sanders said the officers then called an ambulance and he waited until the ambulance came. While they were waiting, he reported, Burns asked his partner, "What will we charge him with?" and was answered, "Attempted assault and battery because he attempted to hit the man in our presence."

The minister said he was not not acquainted with Carbon but felt he should report what he had seen.

"I'm not worrying about what they'll do to me," he added.

Another witness, Dickerson, said he learned Carbon had attacked two other people, including Molenda. Dickerson said it was he who called police.

In the presence of a Recorder reporter and Det. Lieut. Spurgeon Davenport, assigned to the investigation by Inspector Carl Schmidt, Dickerson said Carbon had been placed under arrest by Burns and Miles when Bridgewater walked up.

"Carbon tried to take a swing at Bridgewater, and the officer hit him on the jaw. Carbon stumbled and fell, striking his head on the concrete floor."

He said he didn't recall any conversation between Burns and Carbon.

"I don't think the blow killed him," Dickerson added. "That concrete floor, that's what did it."

The reporter also accompanied Lieut. Davenport to the home of Molenda who, on Tuesday, was still sporting a slightly blackened eye.

THE AGED CRIPPLE said he was washing up in the bathroom when Carbon came in and tossed a cigarette butt between Molenda and the wash basin.

"I asked him, 'Can I help you?' and he struck me with his fist."

"Since I had soap all over my face, the blow slid off. I could see he was going to try to hit me again, so I grabbed for my cane and tried to grip the wash basin. My hand slipped on the soapy basin, and I fell right into his fist. That's when he popped me in the eye."

Molenda said by the time he got back to the waiting room, Carbon was unconscious on the terminal floor.

"I don't know what happened," he said. "Some say he slipped and struck his head on the floor and some say the officer hit him."

Both Bridgewater and Stone, contacted later this week by homicide officials said Burns definitely did not strike Carbon. Both men said Carbon had created a general disturbance before police arrived.

According to Chief of Police Robert Reilly, any officer who uses force to effect an arrest must make a special report to him.

No such report was made by Burns, who also failed to note on the regular teletype report that he had used force to subdue Carbon.

Confronted with the conflicting accounts police officials ordered a full-scale investigation.

BURNS WAS ONE OF FIVE officers "cleared" last March in a raid at 230 W. Wyoming after which several occupants said they had been beat and "knocked around" by the officers.

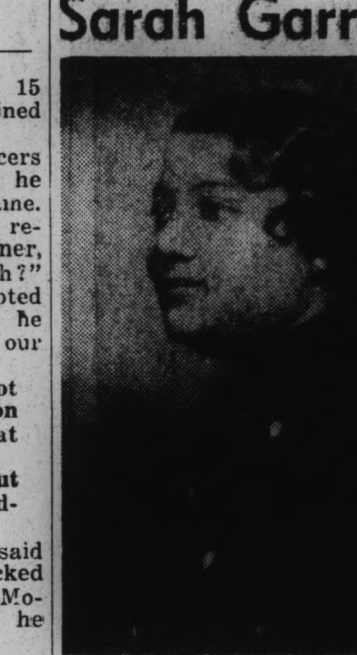

No arrests were made during the raid.

A Recorder reporter present during a hearing conducted by Inspector William Haage heard the complainants' charges dismissed with, "You think I'll call my officers a lie?"

Prosecutor Phillip Bayt said Thursday he had ordered Norman Bryant to interview witnesses for the Prosecutor's Office.

He gave no indication that a grand jury investigation was planned.

Rites Set for Sarah Garrett

SARAH GARRETT

Services for Mrs. Sarah E. Byrdson Garrett, 418 Blake, were scheduled for Friday at 1 at Second Baptist Church, of which she was a member.

The body was to lie in state at the Willis Mortuary after 6 Thursday evening.

Mrs. Garrett, born in Sparta, Ga., in 1909, died Aug. 28 in Los Angeles.

An active member of Second Baptist Church, Mrs. Garrett also took a lively interest in organizational affairs, being member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Household of Ruth, Purple Heart Nurses and Christian Civic League.

Survivors include the husband, Jesse Garrett, two daughters, Mrs. Mae Evelyn White, Los Angeles, and Miss Louise Garrett, Indianapolis; two sons, Leonard and Eugene Garrett, both of Louisville; her parents, Ashley and Elsie Byrdson; nine sisters, Mesdames Elvera Whitehead, Eunice Roscoe, Anna Garrett, Marian Smith, Grace Stanley, Tracy Ford, Helen Taylor and Gertrina Elkinson; and Miss Shirley A. Byrdson; three brothers, Robert, Augustus J. and Rev. William Byrdson; 23 nieces and nephews, 17 great-nieces and nephews, two aunts, Mesdames Ethel Shivers and Anna Bemby, one uncle, A. T. Stanley, South Bend.

Burial was to be in Floral Park cemetery.

Parents to be Eligible for Death Benefits

Sept. 30 may be an important date for you if you were dependent on a working son or daughter who died at some time after 1939, according to Russell D. Bechtel, district manager of the Social Security office in Indianapolis.

Before August 1958, Bechtel said, many parents who inquired about their eligibility for social security survivor's payments were told they could not qualify because the son or daughter was survived by a widow, widower or child.

A 1958 change in the law, however, makes benefits payable to dependent parents as well as to other survivors.

If you are at retirement age and if you were being supported by your son or daughter at the time he or she died, you should inquire at the social security office before Sept. 30 to get all benefits due you.

IF APPLICATIONS are not filed with the office by that date, some back payments may be lost.

Surviving parents who are not yet of retirement age should also get in touch with the social security office before too much time has passed, Bechtel said.

Proof of support must be furnished within two years of August, 1958, or within two years after the death of the son or daughter, whichever is later.

The Social Security administration in Indianapolis is located at 36 S. Pennsylvania and the telephone number is ME. 2-1581.

YMCA Lists Worker for Women, Girls

Dr. H. N. Middleton, chairman of the Board of Management of the Fall Creek Parkway YMCA (formerly the Senate Avenue YMCA), has announced the appointment of Mrs. Helen L. Brawley as youth program assistant, with emphasis on women's and girls' activities.

A native of Indianapolis, Mrs. Brawley has been associated with the Senate "Y" for more than 15 years as youth program assistant and secretary to R. K. Smith of the Boys' Department.

In her new position, she will be responsible for directing the women's and girls' programs and coordinating program activities for youth.

Executive Secretary John J. James emphasizes that this new position will make possible an expanded community program for all age groups and is in keeping with the projected "family approach" of the Indianapolis YMCA.

Mrs. Brawley, a product of local schools, is a member of Witherpoon Presbyterian Church, Tau Gamma Delta sorority, Lifters Social club, Phyllis Wheatley YWCA, Council of Negro Women and the Federation of Associated Clubs, Inc.

She lives with her daughter, Dathena, and mother, Mrs. Dathena Porter.

Ministers Named to Advisory Committee For Graham Crusade

Among those recently named to the Ministers Advisory Committee for the forthcoming Billy Graham Crusade are: R. T. Andrews, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, and Dr. David M. Jordan, former district superintendent in the Methodist church.

Rev. Clinton M. Marsh, Witherpoon United Presbyterian Church, is a member of the main crusade committee.

Other committee workers include Dr. E. P. Thomas, Spurling Clark, Grant Hawkins and Starling James.

City Pastors and Wives Attend PAW Convention

Many Indianapolis pastors and their wives have returned from New York City, where they attended the national convention of the Pentecostal Assemblies of the World, held at Salem Methodist Church.

The opening night's sermon was delivered by Rev. Morris E. Golder of this city.

Mrs. Lillie Tobin was secretary of the Foreign Missionary Department, and Mrs. Grover C. Mill was state delegate from the missionary department of the ABSA of Indiana. Mrs. Mills was also director of the combined choirs of the national ministers' wives and missionaries.

Mrs. Owen Young of Indianapolis and Mrs. Earl Parchia, Milwaukee, were at the piano, while Mrs. Raymond Lloyd of Springfield, O., was at the organ. Mrs. Tobin and Mrs. Elizabeth Golder were soprano soloists, and contralto soloists were Mrs. O. C. Hayes of Inkster, Mich., and Mrs. A. L. Boyd, Davenport, Ia.

The Indianapolis pastors and members were very much in evidence as many vital issues were discussed.

Attending from Indianapolis were Revs. and Mesdames Grover C. Mills, Owen Young, Morris E. Golder and Edwin Vaughn, Pastor Jennie Forster and Mesdames Mary Robinson, Pearl Warner, Lillie Tobin, Mildred Rezinover, O-

Commanding officers include Capt. Henry L. Moore, First Lieut. Clarence Webb and Second Lieut. Leland Palmer.

All Masons are invited to attend the ceremonies. Refreshments will be served.

Kuykendall Heads Mixed Staff of Twelve Lawyers

Rufus C. Kuykendall, prominent Indianapolis attorney, has been named director of the office of laws, plans and research for the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

As head of the commission's legal division, he commands a staff of 12 lawyers, only one of whom is a Negro.

His secretarial staff likewise includes about a dozen persons, mostly women.

Kuykendall's office is responsible for all legal research and reports on the civil rights situation over the nation. The first report from his office is due to be made next Wednesday, and will cover voting, education and housing.

He said next week's report will include all information available from the fields covered.

If Congress extends the life of the commission, plans call for surveys on employment, justice administration, transportation, public accommodations and governmental facilities.

Reaction against the program is largely limited to the South.

Atty. Kuykendall became associated with the office as a consultant last April. In his present position, he succeeded George M. Johnson on June 10.

a heavenly assortment of cakes, tarts and cookies as were prepared by Mrs. Mason and her daughter, Mrs. Lucille Sawyer, for the affair! The chocolate piece de resistance, I'm told, was the recipe of a Waldorf-Astoria Hotel chef.

Flowers were sent by Messrs. and Mesdames George Temple, N. Hawthorn Graves, Ralph McWilliams and W. A. Lennear and Mesdames Maude Gaillard and Mae Johnson, while gifts were sent by Messrs. and Mesdames John C. Powers, Prophet Curtis, Walter Hall, Leon Hill, Leroy Butcher, William Heidelberg, James Craig and John Glenn and Mesdames Ann Kennerly, Wilma Suter and Elythe R. Walker.

Assisting Mrs. Mason as hostesses were Mesdames Alicetia Bell, Margaret Wallace, Mae Johnson and Lucille Sawyer.

On the same afternoon Dr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Evans entertained at a cocktail party honoring her sister, Mrs. Joseph Hall, of Washington, D. C. The affair went along very smoothly, and Mrs. Evans gives the credit to a bunch of youngsters, including her own children, Noel and Frederick Jr.; her nieces, Loyce and Joyce Richardson of Washington, and Mark Batties III.

Flowers and gifts were sent by Drs. and Mesdames James Anderson, Roy Clinthorne, Ralph Hanley and E. P. Thomas, Messrs. and Mesdames Albert Spurlock, Amos A. Thompson, Crowell Shelton and Spurling Clark and Mrs. Jane Stout.

Enjoying the affair were Drs. and Mesdames Clinthorne, Thomas Frank Lloyd and B. H. Pritchett, Messrs. and Mesdames Spurlock, Clark, Mark Batties, Isaac Bacon Sr., Stanley Porter, Joseph Williams, John Gentry, Augustus Hamilton, Crowell Shelton, Wallace Vaughn, Henry Greer and James Compton; Mesdames Amos Thompson, Herbert Hughes and Rosa Lee Watson and Dr. Ralph Hanley, Neal Harris and Thomas Stockell of Detroit.

Also entertaining Mrs. Hall were Dr. and Mrs. Pritchett and the Battieses, Greens, Porters and Gentrys.

Bless her soul! Shirley (Mrs. Evans, that is) after 13 years hasn't become entirely used to Indianapolis hospitality. As late as Wednesday night she still had a mild sense of wonderment that friends would go so much "all out" to welcome her sister!

Naturally, it hasn't occurred to this damsel that people in Indianapolis are pretty much the same as they are every place else. She has been a friend to people, so naturally it would follow that they would be friends to her. It's interesting to notice, for instance, that she has a feeling of almost humble gratitude, while I've known others under similar circumstances only to be annoyed that they would have to remember who did what!

Incidentally, more than a casual nod of honor is due Drs. Frederick H. Evans and Paul A. Batties, who were credited in this ordinarily reliable column a few weeks ago as having been mere second-place winners in the recent ABA bridge tournament in Cleveland.

It turns out the gentlemen were actually first-place winners, having played rather energetically — and this each of them can do on brio — to take the over-all first place in the Buckeye Pairs for non-masters.

Depending upon information I have since learned was not too reliable, this column had stated earlier that these two demons of the card table had won merely a second prize. Now that the truth is known and we recognize them for

500 Insurance Workers in Chicago for National Meet

CHICAGO (ANP) — More than 500 delegates, men and women, were in Chicago this week to attend the 39th annual convention of the National Insurance Association, in session Sept. 1-4 at the Hotel Sherman.

The companies organized in the NIA together form the largest financial institution owned and operated by Negroes in the world. More than 8,000 executives, managers, supervisors, agents, secretaries and clerks are employed in the 53 companies which constitute the association.

NIA companies are licensed to do business in 33 states and the District of Columbia. Their combined capital and surplus is nearly $50 million; premium income is over $70 million, and total income is in excess of $80 million.

The hundreds of thousands of policyholders received in the past year more than $22 million in benefits. Insurance is force is $1.5 billion.

Thousands of Negro homeowners, from coast to coast, have used the member companies as a source of first-mortgage loans. Currently these companies have over $70 million of their total assets invested in these mortgages.

Theme of the convention which was to end Friday was "Accelerating Our Growth."

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Lanier and children, Joyce, Maurice and Lucie, accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCoy, and baby, Monica, here visiting from Texas, have returned from a recent visit in Chicago.

Visiting from Franklin, Tenn., are the Misses Maggie Betty and Dorothy Mildred North, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cook, 721 Center.

The geniuses of cardboard they actually are. Let us hope that we poor ordinary mortals can at least pretend to know the suits when we see them!

In all seriousness, I am glad to learn through rather devious ways that these two young physicians have put Indianapolis even more in the limelight than I thought. I have played, of course, with each of them, and my only reaction is one of mild surprise at their eminently successful partnership.

Fred Evans is the "brilliant" player, seemingly grasping right from the start an idea of the nature of a hand. The scoundrel has stolen more than one contract from me through this ability of divining the peculiarities of a four-hand deal, while I'm busily concentrating only on the one hand I have seen (my own).

"Big Paul" Batties, on the other hand, is the academical par excellence. This grand larcenist I have seen quote Goren ad infinitum (is it necessary to add "ad nauseum") and appear to know each page of the 40-40-40 — Goren's complete book. One thinks, "This is a push-over, because he's too blasted academic."

But somewhere down the line, Fred's "inspiration" is tempered by a sound knowledge of the game and its theory, while "Bib Paul's" theory is given life through the ability to know when to inspire, to breathe the warm breath of inspiration. Perhaps it really isn't surprising at all to see that these two players, who appear to be the opposite of each other, actually complement each other.

At any rate, I predict they will form a formidable partnership and perhaps even be known to some future generation as "Les Infants Terribles" of Indianapolis. I'm mighty proud to say I've sat at the table with 'em!

Arriving just a few hours late for last week's column was an attractive picture postcard from Mrs. John Morton-Finney.

She and her daughter, Gloria Ann, had been visiting in Canada and were leaving to visit her old home in New York and Ithaca, where Mrs. Morton-Finney attended Cornell University.

A & P Offers Educational Stamps In Back-to-School Promotion

Philatelists and parents of school-age children will be delighted to learn of A & P's exciting back-to-school promotion starting Thursday, Sept. 3, in A & P super markets in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky.

It's the new, illustrated Around-the-World stamp album—a big, authoritative, truly educational stamp album available only at A & P stores at a fraction of its usual retail value.

The illustrated album will appeal not only to novice stamp collectors but to all who have never been able to afford a truly comprehensive album for their collection.

The album will be sold in 12 sections, plus binder, one section each week for 12 weeks. Section No. 1 will cost 49 cents; all other sections and the binder will cost 99 cents each.

A handy one three-piece, durable laminated cover, the binder is attractively printed in full color and specially designed through the use of nylon posts to open flat.

AN INTERESTING FEATURE of the promotion is the inclusion of 25 free stamps in each section plus a free stamp tongs and perforation gauge with the second section, a free magnifying glass with the third section, and 500 free stamp hinges with the binder kit.

Stamp collecting, which has been called the hobby of kings and presidents, is the hobby par excellence of the masses. Probably no other pursuit has as many enthusiastic followers in every corner of the land.

The interest of these millions is reflected in the daily stamp columns usually found in most major metropolitan newspapers.

The U.S. Post Office realizes so much money from collectors that it has embarked on a greatly expanded program of new issues to cash in on extra stamp business. Most foreign governments print several times as many stamps as they require for internal postal needs—the balance going to collectors.

AS A HOBBY for boys and girls, men and women of all ages, collecting stamps offers worthwhile rewards unequalled by other pursuits. Young and old from 8 to 80 learn from stamps geography, history, world affairs.

For parents with school-age children, the illustrated Around-the-World album offers a real boon. This all-family hobby is fascinating fun, always educational, often profitable, helps with school work and widens horizons of old and young.

Worthwhile and lasting friendships are often formed by young people in this universal hobby.

'First' Abolitionist Honored At Ceremonies in Quakerdom

QUAKERDOM, Porter County—A man who is said to have been the first Abolitionist in the U.S. was honored in interracial ceremonies at his grave here recently.

An impressive memorial marker was unveiled in Quakerdom Cemetery, on State Road 6 a mile west of the county line between LaPorte and Porter Counties. It reads:

"CHARLES OSBORN, 1775-1850; First Pioneer of American Abolition; Eminent Quaker Minister; Organizer, Journalist and Publisher. THE FULL ENJOYMENT OF LIBERTY IS THE RIGHT OF ALL WITHOUT ANY CONDITIONS." — The Philanthropist.

THE DEDICATION SERVICE was conducted by leaders of the four sponsoring organizations: William Henry Harrison Chapter of the DAR, Historical Society of Porter County, Inc., LaPorte County Historical Society, and Duneland Historical Society.

The "Half Tones," a group of nine girls from Campbell Friendship House, Gary, sang under the direction of Miss Eleanor Barnes.

The original headstone on the grave of Charles Osborn was removed from the old Quaker cemetery and placed in the Porter County Historical Society Museum at Valparaiso.

IN A DEDICATORY tribute during the ceremony it was observed by Rev. Carl R. Hatfield, Protestant chaplain of Beatty Memorial Hospital at Westville, "I love America and feel that it is the greatest country on earth, but I would be fearful for her future if I ever doubted that she would ultimately secure freedom for all her people."

"How tragic it is when strong resistance, supported even by so-called Christian teaching, arouses the forces of anxiety and fear to deny this precious liberty and dignity to some of our own people."

"We can be thankful that men like Charles Osborn have established bridgeheads or islands where the meaning of brotherhood is better understood and more clearly demonstrated."

The entire July issue of the Indiana History Bulletin, published by the Indiana Historical Bureau in Indianapolis, is devoted to reports and photographs of the program, together with a biographical sketch of Indiana's little-known crusader against slavery.

ACCORDING TO the article by M. Fern Sprague, Osborn was born in North Carolina in 1775, moved to Wayne County, Indiana, to get good but low-priced farm land where he could bring up his family beyond the land of slavery. Three years earlier he had established a periodical called The Philanthropist, which advocated immediate emancipation of the slaves and a boycott of slave-made products.

The newspaper also opposed the colonization of the American Negroes in Africa, a plan which was much in vogue prior to the Civil War even among liberal Congressmen.

Indiana's Civil War Congressman George W. Julian is quoted as asserting: "Mr. Osborn edited and published the anti-slavery newspaper in the United States, and is thus entitled to the honor of being counted the pioneer of latter-day Abolitionism."

Another writer said: "Honorable George W. Julian of Indiana has transferred the credit from Benjamin Lundy to Charles Osborn as the one who first proclaimed in the United States immediate, unconditional Emancipation." And no less a crusader than William Lloyd Garrison is reported to have remarked: "Charles Osborn is the father of all of us Abolitionists."

AS OFTEN HAPPENS to pioneers, Osborn suffered for his convictions. To his surprise, he found strong pro-slavery sentiments existing among certain groups of Quakers in Wayne County.

In 1842, the Society of Friends went so far as to "disqualify" and remove from office Osborn and seven other prominent members because they refused to withdraw from anti-slavery activities.

"The Quakers thus succumbed to the power of slavery," wrote Julian. "Among the rank and file of the body in Indiana there were doubtless very many true anti-slavery men; but at the time of which I speak the chief rule believed in colonization and gradual emancipation."

The eight disqualified members then organized a group known as the Society of Anti-Slavery Friends. Osborn died in 1850, "a griefed and sorely disappointed old man."

Fortunately, a complete file of The Philanthropist is available at the Indiana State Library.

Franklin Couple Surprised On 31st Wedding Anniversary

By BILL BOVIER

FRANKLIN—Mr. and Mrs. Webster Montgomery were surprised last Sunday on their 31st wedding anniversary when Mesdames Carey Hunter and John Clifton Carter, hosts and several other friends "dropped in" on them to make the close of the day a perfect one.

The dining table was covered with a lovely lace cloth, centered with a beautiful cake baked by Mrs. Hunter. Ice cream and cake were served.

Also present were Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Handy, Mrs. Sarah Vardiman and Paul Montgomery and guest.

Mrs. Roy Clark has returned to Chicago after spending several days visiting Miss Ethel Harnett, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hunter and daughter, Connie, who accompanied them on a two-week vacation in New York City. ## CME Church at Gary Dedicates New Buiding

GARY—The Westside CME Church is celebrating this week the opening of its new building last Sunday with a full week of services starting with a special program Sunday morning and ending with another special service at 3 next Sunday afternoon.

Highlighting speakers scheduled for the celebration was Bishop J. Claude Allen, head of the Michigan-Indiana Conference.

Before Sunday's services, the congregation had been meeting in the basement of the home of a member, Monzell Cantrell, 2213 McKinley.

The church, located at 2429 Taft, was organized Feb. 8, 1953, by Rev. J. Leonard Jefferson, who came here with his wife and four children in 1951. He formerly was associate pastor of Carter's Chapel here.

Cornerstone-laying ceremonies were also held Sunday afternoon for another AME Church, As bishop of the Third Episcopal District at the CME Church, Bishop Allen was principal speaker for the ceremonies held at Allen Chapel CME Church.

The congregation, pastored by Rev. E. L. Rosemond, has been holding services in the church since last October.

Indiana Harbor Area to Get $9½ Million Renewal Program

EAST CHICAGO—In what Mayor Walter M. Jeorse terms "a tremendous forward step toward the physical realization of better housing and living conditions for the citizens of East Chicago," the federal government has agreed to spend $9½ million in the Indiana Harbor Urban Renewal program.

Land acquisition and clearance for the 367-acre project in the northeastern half of the Harbor area will be done over a six-year period.

Prompt land acquisition is desirable so that the owners can know how they'll be affected and make adjustments as soon as possible. It was revealed by Thomas S. Bunsa, general director of the Purdue-Calumet Development Foundation, non-profit organization chartered to help improve housing and living conditions in the Calumet area.

Land purchases are expected to begin late this fall.

"In many cases," Bunsa said, "the present occupants will be able to stay on in their dwellings as tenants of the Redevelopment Commission until the clearance schedule requires their relocation."

MOST FAMILIES in the affected area are Negro.

Property owners have been assured of fair prices for their homes, and tenants will be given adequate notice before having to move, Bunsa promised. They also will be assisted in finding safe, sanitary and otherwise adequate living accommodations, he said.

Residents of the area — an estimated 4,452 families or about a third of the city's population — will be given priority consideration in buying or renting the affected property as soon as progress on the project permits.

The $9½ million figure represents two-thirds of the net cost of the project. Public works and community facilities affecting the area are expected to cover the city's share of the cost.

No bond issue or tax increase is anticipated.

Ministers Invited To Labor Day Seymour Picnic

SEYMOUR—A special invitation has been extended to the presiding elders of the AME Indiana Conference, Revs. William Rice and J. P. Q. Wallace, and other ministers of the state and their wives to attend the annual Labor Day picnic of Bethel AME Church, it was announced this week by Rev. Edgar F. Maddox, pastor.

The picnic will be held from 10 until 8 Monday at Shields Park and will feature a short program at the park's shelter house at 4.

Judge John M. Lewis of the Jackson Circuit Court will extend the welcome, and Mrs. Laura E. Hughes, president of the For Beauty and Barber College, Indianapolis, will speak. Rev. Ford Gibson, president, will represent the Indianapolis NAACP.

Families wishing to attend the picnic in groups are also invited, Rev. Maddox said. The church will offer cold drinks, ice cream and sandwiches at a concession stand in the park.

NYC Policemen Warned Racial Tension is 'Real'

By SAMUEL P. PERRY JR., NEW YORK CITY (ANP)—Speaking to a group of police officials recently, Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy warned them that they would have to face the reality of racial tension in the huge metropolis "where virtually every ethnic group and every race is represented."

He further cautioned against the maintenance by police officers of "conventional and stereotyped attitudes."

Commissioner Kennedy commented, "The streets of the city must not be turned into courtrooms with the police or mobs serving as judge and jury."

"Customary justice is not justice at all; mob rule mocks justice and leads to anarchy."

The police official asserted that police thinking in stereotypes was a disease which rational men had to avoid.

"When you think in stereotypes," he said, "you condemn a group for the sins of a few. To do this would tend to alienate public sympathy and support, and if the public does not support the police, what good are police? None at all."

A teaspoonful of cornstarch improves the texture of fudge.

A few drops of lemon juice added to the rice while it is boiling will keep the grains separate and make the rice white.

Down HOPKINSVILLE Way

By JIMMY IRVIN

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. — Rev. Robert Hunt of Main Street Baptist Church has been called to the pastorate of Moore's Mission Baptist Church.

The widely-known young minister attended local schools and M. and F. College. He will succeed the late Rev. O. L. McKinney, who died as result of an automobile accident.

Young people of Lane Tabernacle CME Church were in charge of services at the church last Sunday, J. H. Bronaugh, member of the Attucks high school faculty and a lay leader of Freeman Chapel CME Church, was guest speaker at the morning service, and Mrs. Belle Young, district president of stewardestes, made the afternoon address. Rev. Holsey Wilson, Pembroke, delivered the evening message.

Rev. R. C. Mason is pastor.

Rev. B. F. Green, Henderson, delivered the sermon at First Street Baptist Church last Sunday morning, and the singing groups of his church rendered a musical program in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Dixon and the Gordonville chorus rendered a spiritual musical program last Sunday afternoon at Green Hill Baptist Church, Casky. The program was sponsored by the senior usher board.

Rev. E. C. Harris is pastor, and Mrs. Ivora Davis is president of the sponsoring group.

MR. AND MRS. NELSON HENRY JR. entertained Saturday night honoring his grandmother, Mrs. John E. Flowers, on her 81st birthday. Maurice, Philip, Bernard and Tindolph Poston, great-grandsons of the honoree, served the delightful meal.

Those attending were Carter Flowers of Louisville and Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas Williams, Ross Blair and Freelin Poston, all of this city.

Mrs. Flowers received many useful gifts.

Mrs. Margaret J. Collier and a daughter have returned to Kokomo, Ind., following a very pleasant stay in the city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Penix, and other relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. C. Fort, Creighton, Pa., were recent house guests of Mrs. Annie Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Radford and Mrs. Janie Rowland Radford, Indianapolis, spent several days here.

THE FUNERAL OF Walter R. "Jelly Roll" Morton, who died suddenly Aug. 15, was conducted Aug. 18 at the Campbell Street Church of Christ, with Brother E. B. Harvey officiating. The Adams Funeral Home was in charge of burial in Cave Spring cemetery.

The step-father, Arthur Shanklin, and several distant cousins survive.

Mrs. Fannie Moore died Aug. 18 at a local hospital, and last rites were conducted Aug. 2 at the Adams Funeral Home with Rev. D. W. Roberts, pastor of the Ducrest Avenue Baptist Church, delivering the eulogy. Burial was in Cave Spring cemetery.

Several nieces and nephews survive.

Snakebite Likely Anywhere Except Maine and Alaska

If you are a lover of the great outdoors and don't want snakebite to spoil your fun, choose your camp site in Maine or Alaska. Those are the only two states in the Union where there are no poisonous snakes.

Most of the 35 poisonous species known in the U.S. are pit vipers, which include rattlers, copperheads, and water moccasins.

About 3,000 people are bitten by snakes each year. Fortunately, deaths are few, no more than 10 or 20 a year.

However, outdoor activities like camping, hiking and picnicking are getting more popular. High boots or leggings and a stick to explore underbrush before moving into it are wise.

Usually bites occur out in the wilds with no doctor nearby, so the victim himself or a companion should be able to apply first aid.

THE IMPORTANT thing is to keep calm and keep the victim quiet to avoid pumping the poison rapidly through the blood stream.

Eyes Have It — Use 'Em To Read Traffic Patterns

In driving a car, the eyes have it—they control 90 percent of all movements and decisions behind the wheel. With a little effort and practice any driver can learn "selective seeing."

This method of using your eyes to the best advantage enables you to "read" the traffic pattern at a glance.

Here are some steps in selective seeing that make use of all the areas of your vision, fringe or side, as well as main or central sight:

Aim your vision high, not just in front of your own car. Keep your central vision moving over the foreground, background, and sideground for a block ahead in towns, half a mile ahead on country roads. This way your fringe vision first sees an object, central vision identifies it.

KEEP YOUR EYES MOVING. A fixed stare becomes a blank stare. At night, avoid staring at the bright spot your headlights make. Along the super-highways, watch out for "highway hypnosis."

If you're really groggy, pull off the road and take a nap. Make sure the other driver sees you. Blow your horn or flash your lights if in doubt. Get in the correct turning lane early and check in the rear mirror to make sure the driver behind you gets the idea.

Be sure you have an out. Even if you're right, the other driver can get you in trouble. Keep a space cushion around your car when possible, especially on slippery roads.

None of the rules will do you any good if your vision isn't up to par. That includes seeing objects clearly, good depth perception, proper field of vision and good night vision. Have your eyes examined regularly. Vision should be checked by an expert who can recommend corrections where possible.

Can Labor Rejoice?

While the accent Monday will likely be on merry-making and enjoying the last rose of summer holiday-wise, Labor Day affords a time also for sober realization of the unenviable role in which organized labor finds itself today. Partly through its own fault by reason of the non-participation of the masses of laboring men in their union affairs, unionism is at a low ebb in public opinion, suspicion of organized labor is rife on too many hands, and there is real danger of labor losing many of the strides made in recent years through the earnest work of good leaders.

It's the same old story, of course. Time was when labor recognized itself as at the bottom of the totem pole. Working men could see they would have to unite to raise their own standards, get better working conditions and earn more money. The almost heroic job done by the early unionizers and labor leaders has paid off to the degree that now most laborers have been riding the crest of the wave, picturing themselves too often as secure and untouchable when in fact they were not.

Hoffaism has become a bad word; the McClellan committee findings have made "clean" unions suspect; the steel strike has put a bad taste in too many people's mouths. Clever anti-labor interests are using these evidences of "corruption" to give the black eye to all unionism — an effort which, although probably doomed to ultimate failure, is for the present enjoying considerable success.

Honest labor leaders will be able to meet the challenge of cleaning house while at the same time fighting the attackers from outside, we feel. One of the major jobs facing organized labor now is completely doing away with discrimination, which still exists in far too many areas, as the NAACP has recently been pointing out. And laborers themselves must take a more active interest in their unions, electing the best possible leadership and supporting that leadership wholeheartedly. No group today can afford to rest on past laurels; "We must be vigilant" applies to labor as well as to every group fighting for and sustaining rights threatened by others.

Voting CAN Affect 'Police Brutality'

"But what can I do about police brutality?" The Recorder has been asked this question many times in recent weeks as the paper has highlighted instances of alleged infractions by Indianapolis policemen. One of the most emphatic answers is, "REGISTER AND VOTE." A record ballot cast by the Negroes of Indianapolis for candidates who have pledged themselves against this outrage against voting citizens will mean much to assure a responsible city government.

The problem of police-public relationships is a complex one, and politics is certainly involved. Voters can easily familiarize themselves with persons presently in office who have spoken against or have acted against policemen's infringements upon their rights; they can just as easily pinpoint the higher-ups who close their eyes to a bad situation. They can demand that candidates express themselves, and they can even get indications of who will be who when the ballot box battle is over.

They can only do this, however, by showing their strength in a record registration. Let an impressive number of "new" Negro voters register, and watch the mayoralty candidates jump! Let Negroes attend political rallies in record numbers and show an intelligent interest in voting, and hear the promises made! Show an awareness of the worth of present public servants, and be surprised at just how worthy they CAN be! Register and vote, and be a step nearer to first-class citizenship!

New School Head Has Big Shoes to Fill

George Ostheimer, new superintendent of schools in Indianapolis, has stepped into a job which is filled with responsibility and possible explosiveness. If, as a school board representative said last week, he can be counted upon to carry out the board's feelings; and if, as reported in The Recorder on July 18, Dr. Herman L. Shiber was asked to resign because he didn't "protect the board members against pressure groups," because he pushed for annual promotion instead of by semester and because he pushed for elementary school libraries — a situation is likely to arise which may be pretty uncomfortable all the way around.

We suppose one of the "pressure groups" referred to is the Negro of Indianapolis who expects the city school board to live up to the letter and the spirit of the Indiana school integration law. Far from letting up, the Negro should be even more alert in seeing to it that school integration is indeed accomplished in Indianapolis. And this means completely integrated from the administration offices to the smallest kindergarten, with teachers and administrators appointed on the basis of ability alone.

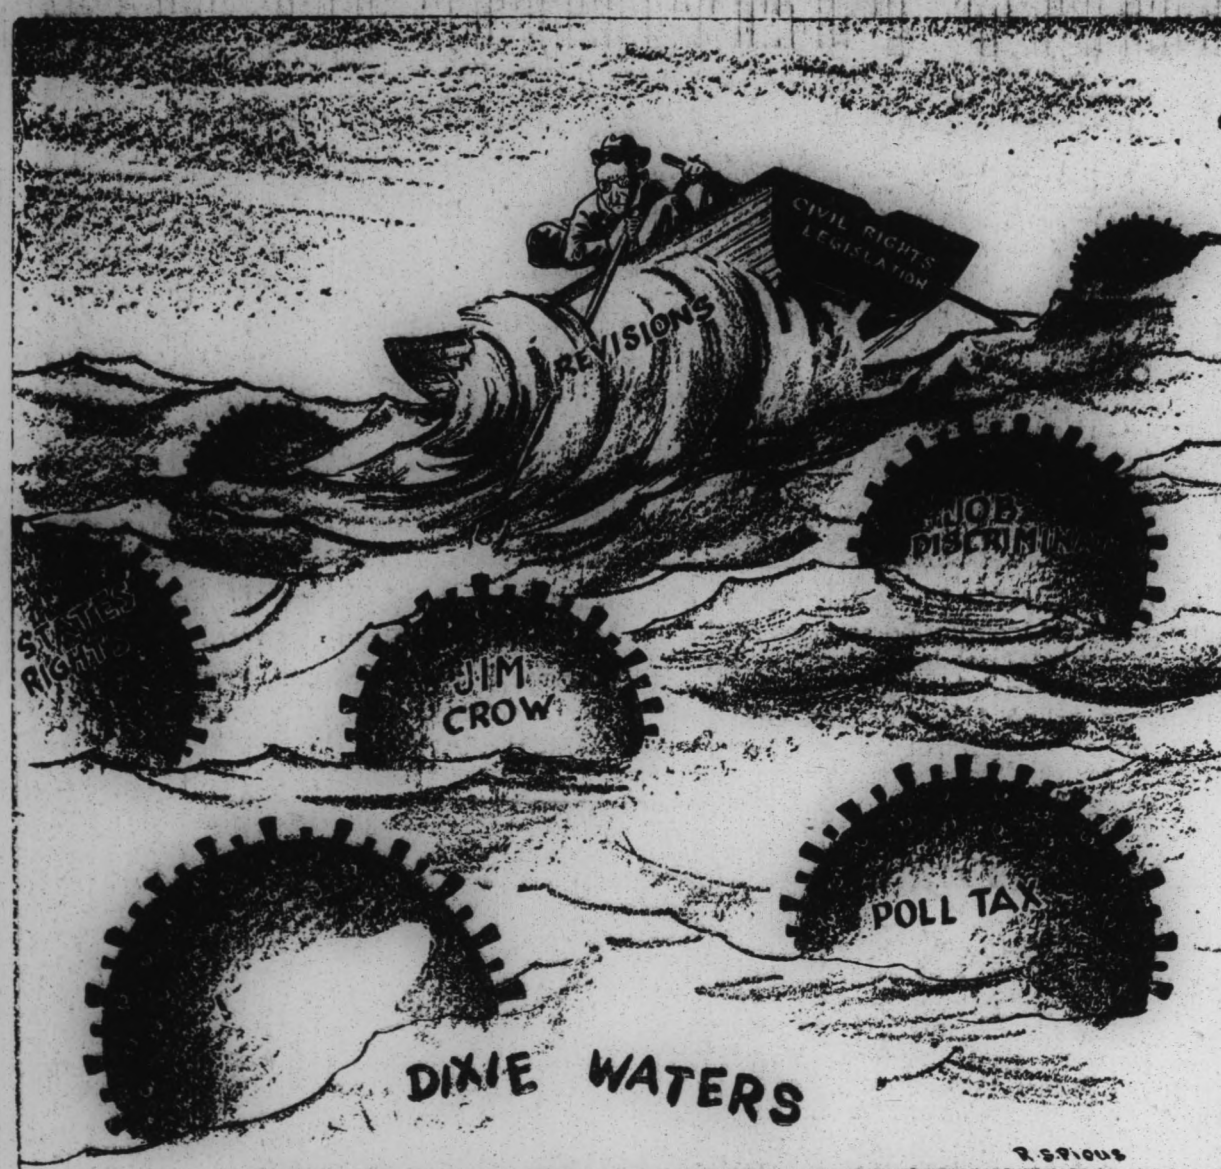

Mr. Ostheimer's long-term association with the Indianapolis school system should have equipped him well for the general job of running the city's schools. He should know his personnel well, and he should be familiar with peculiarities of the city which would affect his own work. But he must also have the courage to be faithful to the wishes of the people of Indianapolis who, through their representatives in the State Legislature, have ordered integrated schools. We wish him luck in advancing the program of integration so brilliantly initiated by his predecessor!

Legion Muffs Chance To Become 'American'

The American Legion, by refusing to take a strong stand last week on the question of race discrimination in the 40 and 8, has again muffed a chance to prove itself exemplary of the type of first-class Americanism it pretends to represent. We say again, because the problem has arisen before, and each time nothing is done.

It is true that the 40 and 8 is a fun-making organization, and we may agree with those who say they can't see why Negroes and other darker-skinned peoples would want to be members of an organization which has no real justification for existence.

This, however, is beside the point. The 40 and 8 is part of a nation-wide organization which has assumed a role of defining Americanism and taking the lead in exemplifying it. The brand of Americanism taught and practiced by its more irresponsible element — which, unfortunately, appears to be in the majority — is a brand we could easily do without.

WILL HE MAKE IT? THE FREE WORLD IS WATCHING.

Letters to the Editor...

Suggests People Learn More About 'Muslim' Sect

To the Editor:
I have read all the letters you printed that you received concerning Mr. Muhammed, but I personally think that we should learn something about it before we condemn it. Just because the man talks like the white man and teaches like the white man teaches his people, we are willing to brand him as an outlaw. The Negro, he is stint or sinner, always tries to console himself by talking about the Bible. We have more religion than anybody else on earth. We sing the loudest, we shout the loudest and receive less from Heaven than anyone else. If we were as Christ-like as we would have people believe, there would be no need for all this controversy among the so-called Christians.

Let us look at our churches and all the different opinions about God. We all preach and teach a different Gospel, and we say that we're serving the Lord Jesus Christ. Two mutually contradictory beliefs or teachings cannot be equally "true." "Hate" is an ugly word, just as distasteful as it sounds, but yet prevalent and we know it too well. Mr. Stevenson (in a letter to the Editor recently) said, "My Bible tells me that I should love even my enemies." I say the white man's Bible says the same thing. James said, "Show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works. Thou believest that there is one God; thou doest well; the devils also believe, and tremble. But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead?"

AND I AGREE with Mr. Muhammed when he says that Christianity has failed its purpose of uniting men, not races together. If Christianity had been practiced as well as preached, I believe that hate would only be a word in the dictionary.

In a recent editorial you stated you would hesitate to brand the group as a "hate group," and I do likewise.

We, the righteous Muslims of your city and ours, wish to thank you and your most intelligent news staff, which is the most intelligent of all the newspapers which carried the story of the Islamic people, the followers of the movement of the most honorable Elijah Muhammed, messenger of almighty God. Whose proper name is Allah. Whose best knowledge of all that is good and evil.

No other wish can be greater than peace and success which we pray Allah bestow upon you and your most competent staff of newsmen and women for your unbiased reporting and editorializing in truth and justice.

Under the U. S. Constitution we were denied the right to worship. It would be very difficult for us to express our regrets and embarrassment to which we were subjected in the week ending Aug. 9. The criticism, mockery, threats and without works is dead?" THE NEGROES HAVE a lot of dead faith, and they don't understand the Bible.

Mr. Stevenson says you further stated "that where the group has been allowed to organize, it has done much good. Any time anybody teaches unity among the Negroes, he's doing a good job. If anyone needs unity, it is the Negro. We were discussing Mr. Muhammed on the job, and everyone said he teaches hate or stirs up hate. Hate is motivated by fear, and I see no fear in them."

The Negro believes in certain laws of Moses, but the law of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth was done away by Jesus, we are taught. He didn't do away with it. He only modified it when he said, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

In spite of all that has been said or done, we know too well it is all true what Mr. Muhammed said.

Muslim Decries 'Prosecution' By Local Attorney

To the Editor:
Al-salamu alaikum: "Peace be unto you."

We Muslims have been tried, convicted, and sentenced through newspapers, radio and TV station; both local and national leading up to and including Aug. 9.

I am very much disappointed in one of our beloved attorneys, a man who has a thorough knowledge of the law, who heard our case through the newspaper, which is our greatest whip through which propaganda is lashed upon the American so-called Negroes.

The prosecutor must first gather evidence and present this evidence to a jury and court judge in a judicial manner prescribed by the law of the land and said person or persons must be found guilty of criminal act before sentence is passed.

That is my conception of the law governing these United States of America. I FEEL THE ATTORNEY did a great service for his community in being instrumental in drawing up said Anti-Hate Law, which I am hoping works 360 degrees (wholly) and not a mere 33 degrees (in part).

Islam, our religion, means peace, freedom, justice and equality, and the Honorable Elijah Muhammed's righteous Muslim followers are the most honest, law-abiding brothers and sisters in America today.

You, Mr. Attorney, should have consulted the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the Muslims' behavior, self respect, for the rights of others, mainly conduct and their strict adherence to law and order. They constitute one of the most intelligent groups of the so-called American Negroes.

The news which was most disturbing to you as of Aug. 9 in our city is in obverse of your thinking. We are of the opinion that your quick conviction of the Islamic movement which prompted your letter to this intelligent, unbiased editor of our leading newspaper, The Recorder, was due to haste and being swayed by international propagandistic newspapers.

ONE CANNOT or should not condemn that which he or she has no knowledge of, notwithstanding hearing both sides of that which is in question. Since you have cried loud and clear on said issue, why not just for the record look at the Muslims' side as so-called citizens of North America?

As a champion of the law, I feel you have been carried away by ravenous "head-hunting" headlines of which all the American overlords have approved wholeheartedly.

A Local Muslim.

Objects to 'Smut' On Front Page

To the Editor:

I have been a constant reader of your paper for many years. There is something I would like to ask you: Does freedom of the press have to be carried so far as to spread on the front page such smut as in the edition of Aug. 22?

Some say it was not true, but true or false, I believe it could have been on another page.

We have to turn the pages to find the church news, social items, even the Sunday school weekly lessons and other worthwhile writings. I wonder if there could be some changes made.

Ideas are powerful instruments used with the pen in hand. I have not carried my freedom of speech too far, have I?

Working Against God

By the Union Baptist Alliance
REV. J. T. HIGHBAUGH, Editor

On their asking it of us "but on grace flowing through us." Gracious forgiveness is as God forgave us in Christ — Knowing all things, Christ forgave us based on His foreknowledge (Eph. 4:32).

We have not "for knowledge, therefore we must forgive at the point of the offense," that is, when we see sin accidentally made or even purposefully made, we must start forgiving. For forgiveness is the social channel of love to offenders.

Among us Christians, there is a varied field of application of this lesson.

Internationally, we must forgive the offense between the East and West, because neither of us has hands completely clean of offenses — and with the missiles of destruction of 1959, neither of us is invulnerable to destruction.

Racially, again forgiveness and forgiveness must go on between the white and colored because hate and getting even is evident on both sides, as is suffering.

Industrially, there is an element in the realm of capital and labor of injustice and unfairness. This is revealed by the mediation board of the steel industry. Each, as the board says, has enjoyed an unprecedented increase in prices and wages for the past 10 years.

Interdenominationally, we must find wider ranges of working together so as to soften the undue competition among us.

And even among our two major Baptist groups, the original centers of conflict, Drs. E. C. Morris and A. H. Boyd, were, before their death, on very close speaking terms. In 1919, when the lawsuit was in full flame, I ate dinner in Dr. Boyd's home in Nashville, Tenn., with Dr. Morris as guest.

And most of us know Dr. Henry A. Boyd and Dr. A. M. Townsend were regular workers together in the Citizens Bank in Nashville and died as such.

So whether we revamp organizations or unite assets, some way, in district, state and nation we must find regular workable cooperation or we are lost.

Now the final practice of this program of forgiving love must start in our local churches and end in an ever-widening field of Christian service.

These grudges and hates are often perpetuated in the day-to-day and week-to-week gossip of the church. If love can start there, it can become a contagion conquering as it spreads.

"O Love that will not let me rest my weary soul in Thee, I give Thee back the love I owe, That in Thine ocean depths its flow May richer, fuller be."

Mexico Lifting Herself By Her Own Bootstraps

By Andrew W. Ramsey

There was a time when it was popular to call Mexicans in the United States "Greasers" and to treat them in the cinema as comic-opera folk who slept under trees with their hats over their eyes, oblivious to work.

And the travelers who went to Mexico raved about the quaint customs and criticized the unwholesomeness of the open-air markets.

While many Americans still share this picture of Mexico and Mexicans, their number is dwindling and their attitude comes from prejudice and ignorance.

For Mexico is in the midst of a rapid transition from a backward, agrarian state to a modern nation, fully capable of holding a place in the family of nations.

BESIDE THE OLD and historical buildings of Mexico City and the other large municipalities of the country just south of the border, the visitor today sees strictly modern concrete, glass, stone and aluminum structures, replete with all the trappings of comparable buildings in New York.

Gone are the out-of-doors food markets, and in their place are modern supermarkets. Gone or going are the greasy-spoon restaurants where the foreigner had to be careful lest he get food poisoning. In their place are some of the finest restaurants in the world, boasting of the cuisine of many lands.

The seacoast towns have

blossomed into resorts rivaling the French Riviera and Miami Beach, and pleasure-seekers from all over the world come to disport themselves there.

Agriculture is still the backbone of the Mexican economy, but industry and tourist trade are yearly making gains.

ILLITERACY IS STILL very high, but the republic is making giant strides to wipe this out. It is now in the 15th year of a campaign to educate every person above the age of six to read and write, and schools are springing up everywhere.

An evidence of the interest of the country in higher education is the fact that, in 1950, the government moved the 400-year-old university to a completely new campus south of Mexico City and built for it the most modern and ornate building possessed by a university anywhere in the world.

And it has manned the university with the most outstanding scholars it could find.

A few years ago, there were only two economic strata in Mexico — the very rich and the very poor.

Today, thanks to modern industry, a strong labor movement and the steady flow of American tourists and the almighty dollar, there is developing a sizeable middle class.

The managers and assistant managers of industrial plants, owned by natives or operated by foreign capital, are at the top of this new middle class. But perhaps the easiest way to gain access to this class is to become a tourist guide.

THE TOURIST GUIDE must know English, as less than one percent of the Americans visiting Mexico has any knowledge of the language, the culture or the history of our neighboring republic. To become a tourist guide is the ambition of many of the boys hustling on the streets, selling newspapers, shining shoes or doing other things to please the Americans and thereby earn a few pesos. The average licensed guide makes 500 pesos ($40) and drives a big American car.

The hotel bellboys, waiters and clerks who can speak English are in great demand and their knowledge enables them to make incomes not dreamed of a few years ago. Operation of private schools for the teaching of English is quite a business in Mexico, and teachers of English are very well paid.

Many of the guides and English teachers have lived in the United States and suffered inequities customarily dealt persons who have a high degree of visibility. While not forgetting the insults which many Americans heap upon Mexicans in the United States and even in Mexico, they are willing to ignore them while garnering American dollars.

ALL IN ALL the Mexicans are proud of their heritage and of their progress toward respectable membership in the family of nations, but they are not simply aping their neighbors to the north.

Mexico is not simply advancing in material things. The cultural and humanistic values for them, and democracy is for them an ideal which has been more nearly realized than it will be in the United States for another generation or two.

Mexico can still learn a thing or two from us, but we, in turn, can learn a thing or two from the little republic across the Rio Grande.

Working Against God

By the Union Baptist Alliance
REV. J. T. HIGHBAUGH, Editor

THEY THEMSELVES IN their coveted hill and said, "What is that to us? Look what they did to our father, Esau. Good for them. They are reaping what they are sowing."

This is a hold-the-coat method which makes for much plunder as the Babylonians, says the Lord.

Third, they laughed at their brothers' calamity. "Aha, Aha!" they said. "They had it coming!"

How careful must we be of this type of fun for often he who laughs loudest may cry the most. Love is goodwill for everyone. It is a hoping that others may make good as we hope to make good.

Fourth, they profited by their neighbors' disaster. They looted their goods, they divided the spoil.

God blows upon money gotten at the fearful disadvantage of a neighbor. That is the sordest evil of gambling among us. To live prosperously at the hungry sacrifice of the child or the lost bread of a brother is a crime against God as well as man.

Fifth, they blocked Judah's flight from the Babylonians and returned their fugitives to them in flight. What dirty hands on a neighbor!

THE DECEPTION OF SIN (Obadiah 2:8). First Edom was deceived in her location. Nestled in the rocky ledges south of Judah, they felt secure.

"Who can reach us?" they asked. "Femen, our capital, will trust in the security of Mt. Teir, and who can bring us down?"

How American that sounds. Look at us nestled between two large oceans. Who can reach us?

Again, they trusted in Babylon who ransacked their placid hills and carried away their natural wealth and left them stranded.

And their witty and wise men vanished in thin air. Psalm 37:10 says, "A little longer and the godless shall not be. Look in his haunts and he is there no more." Fools they are, trusting in false hopes.

SEVENTY TIMES SEVEN (Matt. 18:21-35; Eph. 4:32; Col. 3:13). What a call for repeated forgiveness is here made.

We pass our hatreds from one age to the next. How we stack up jealousy and wash our hands in human blood for a paltry crust or two.

Yes, we reap what we sow, especially when we endeavor to turn rail for rail. This involves a program of forgiveness with those who may live differently from us.

We would be quite a selfish breed of people if we live suitable only to our pattern of life, no matter how morally good we may appear to ourselves and many others. Therefore, we must always be patient and forgiving to those who cross our path and way of life.

And this forbearance and forgiveness must not be based

Negroes Represent Many Nations in Pan-AM Games

$ Million Purse for Each Seen In Johansson-Patterson Rematch

GOTENBORG, Sweden (ANP) — A $1 million purse for each fighter in the much-discussed Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title return bout was predicted last week after the bally Johansson signed the contract for the fight here in his hometown.

Instead of Sept. 22, as originally scheduled, the bout will take place sometime between March 1 and June 15 next year. It will be promoted by former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, who cornered the Swede here and got him to come to terms.

Dempsey was appointed promotion director for the embattled

Rosensohn Enterprises, which now retains only the name of its founder. Bill Rosensohn, the boy promoter who got a painful lesson in promoting the first Johansson-Patterson bout last June 26, claimed he was forced out of the organization by associates.

He also charged he was forced to relinquish rights to radio and television and a controlling share of the company's stock in order to keep the bout. Both the promotional enterprise and its new president, Vincent Velella, are suspended in New York. Therefore, it is unlikely that the bout will be held in Gotham.

Meanwhile, the delay in the fight is expected to aid Patterson, who was stopped in the third round of their initial ruckus. Floyd, who appeared rusty in the bout after lengthy periods of inactivity, will get a chance to sharpen his reflexes and timing.

If Floyd regains the form he achieved for the Archie Moore fight in 1956, he could regain the title. Floyd was exceptionally quick in knocking out the career Moore in the fifth round. Johansson, while a strong puncher, is slow foot.

Patterson's quarrelous manager, Gus D'Amato, is remaining curiously quiet in the meantime. Normally a talkative man, some months ago he kept up a running feud with the now defunct International Boxing club, and seemed to enjoy every minute of it.

CUS THIS TIME is letting Johansson do the talking. He apparently fears wrecking Floyd's chance at the return match.

Among cities mentioned for the return bout are Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Houston and Miami. Johansson is said to have preferred Los Angeles, with its 105,000-seat Coliseum.

NO "FISH STORY": Four members of the Big Wheel Social Club had the presence of mind to bring back irrefutable proof of their incredible skill (or luck) during a recent fishing trip to Patton's Goggle Lake, Crosby, Minn. Posing with a part of the estimated 400 pounds of fish taken by the foursome are Gordon Warren, Charles Clark, Simmie Willis and William F. Woodard. Woodard caught the largest fish during the seven-day outing, an 11-pound greenling, while Willis netted the largest total catch, an estimated 150 pounds. The tired but happy anglers returned Aug. 21.

OSCAR IN TOURNAMENT

Tan Players Help Support U. S. 'Sure Thing' in Track, Basketball

By ALBERT ANDERSON

CHICAGO (ANP) — A huge spectacle of international and interracial goodwill and brotherhood, spelled out in the language of sports, was enacted in mammoth Soldier Field on the lake front here last Thursday afternoon as the third Pan-American Games opened in grand style.

A crowd estimated at between 45,000 and 50,000 persons, led by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, personal representative of the President; Mayor Richard J. Daley, Pan-Am officials and religious and civic leaders, sat in on the program, which got under way early in the afternoon.

One of the striking aspects of the Pan-American Games was the large number of Negro athletes representing many of the South American and Caribbean countries. Some of these the casual American observer had never thought of as having many black people among their populations, and usually they do not, but the colored athletes apparently rise to the top when facing competitive opportunities.

Mexico, the host city during the last meeting three years ago, had the largest foreign delegation. There were many dark members some totally black. Argentina had the next largest. There was not a single face of African extraction in their group, but Argentina does not welcome Negroes as settlers. This is true also of Chile.

Other delegations which were ill, white, at least in the parade, were Bahamas, which had some 10 people with no Negroes, and Bermuda with half a dozen representatives. In some delegations it is probable the athletes themselves did not parade to conserve their strength.

Panama had three lovely white girls marching in the parade and no black women, for example, but the Panamanian track team was composed of five totally black women.

In the case of Bermuda it was speculated that Negroes may have boycotted the trip because of resentment over the stupid segregation in that colony. THE WEST INDIAN Federation reversed the picture. There must have been 40 athletes, and only three of them were not colored. Haiti had only one white representative.

The West Indies track team is coached by Herb McKinley, former Olympic and University of Illinois great. His team is expected to be the No. 1 challenger to the U. S. in the 1,600-meter relay. In fact, the West Indians think they can win it and smash a record in the process.

On the West Indian relay squad are George Kerr, Mel and Mal Spence and Basil Ince, all attending American universities.

The U. S. squad is composed of Eddie Southern of Texas University, Josh Culbreath, Jack Yerman of California, Tom Murphy of the New York A. C. and Dick Howard of New Mexico.

Other reasons why the U. S. track team is considered unstoppable is the presence of Bay Norrison, the great California sprinter who has been dubbed the world's fastest human; Bob Poyner and Bill Woodhouse; Vance Robinson of North Carolina College and others.

In basketball, the title is virtually conceded to the United States, with Cincinnati's Oscar Robinson and Bob Boozer on the starting five.

Checker Contest For All Residents

Anybody who is a resident of Indiana can play in the 1959 Indiana State Checker Tournament to be held this weekend, Sept. 5-7, at the Central YMCA, 310 N. Illinois, according to James Stephenson, president of the Indiana Checker Association.

Suit Filed Against 'Cisco Giants' Player

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (ANP) — A $6,500 suit against Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants has been filed by the father of a 12-year-old boy for alleged injuries suffered during a baseball game last January.

Antonio Sanabria tied suit on behalf of his son, whom he claimed suffered cuts in trying to dodge a ball thrown into the grandstand by Cepeda, reportedly incensed by fans who were jeering him.

The Puerto Rican winter league fined Orlando $200 as a result of the incident.

However, the Giants' big first baseman-outfielder was acquitted of assault and battery charges filed against him.

A short business meeting at 10:30 Saturday morning will precede the play period, which will start at 1:30 and continue through Sunday and Monday.

Checker "boosters" will also be welcome, Stephenson said. He also urged all Indiana checker players to join the American Checker Federation and the Indiana Checker Association.

Indianapolis Clowns Have Nine to Go

They play at Brandywine, Md., Sept. 6; Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 7; Greenville, S. C., Sept. 8; Laurinburg, S. C., Sept. 9; Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 10; Cleveland, Tenn., Sept. 12; Atlanta, Sept. 13; Charleston, S. C., Sept. 14; and Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 15.

James Blaine Gives Biggest Thrill At Douglass Softball Tournament

While the Golden Hill Bears walked off with first-place honors in Sunday's third annual softball tournament at Douglass, the spectators' biggest thrill was provided by James Blaine, star centerfielder for A & A Grocery.

In addition to two outstanding defensive plays, Blaine collected six hits, including a homerun, in seven trips to the plate. And although his club finished fourth in the four-team tournament, the hard-hitting center-fielder was unanimously chosen "best outfielder of the tourney."

Golden Hill, defending champs, had little trouble winning the City Park Softball for the second straight season. Besides the championship trophy, the Bears collected 19 individual trophies, including Charles Dinwiddie's second consecutive manager-of-the-year award.

Other individual winners were Nelson Coby, ace pitcher for the West Indianapolis Junior Clowns, and Bud Ellis, who beat out Mickey Edmonds of Golden Hill in a close contest for the best infielder award.

Ellis, whose Lee's Garage team beat A & A in the consolation game for third place honors, belted three hits, including two homers. Lee's Garage was the only white aggregation in the tourney.

Attucks Gets 'Hands Full' Deal in City Jamboree Draw

Attucks gridders were expected to have their hands full with a tough Howe squad in Friday night's jamboree at Tech field. The Tigers were to represent Northside Indianapolis in the annual rally.

Other pairings in the melee which features eight city teams in what amounts to four one-quarter games were Shortridge v. Wood, Broad Ripple v. Manual and Tech v. Washington.

Starting time was set for 8:30. Both Attucks Coach Graham Martin and Dick Guyer, Howe mentor, were a little "put out" that their squads should have to play each other in the pre-season free-for-all.

"After all," Martin said, "we're supposed to play Howe in a couple weeks. And aside from Wood and Cathedral (no' represented in the jamboree), they're the only city team that would schedule us this year."

"The drawings are supposed to be blind, but it would have been a lot better if we could have played somebody else."

He said he wasn't too concerned about "winning" in the jamboree. "WHY GO OUT THERE and get your boys hurt in a game that doesn't mean anything?" he demanded. "Besides, since we play Home so soon, we don't want to show them anything."

"We'll be doing some running and we'll probably throw the ball some. But mainly, we'll just be trying not to look bad. We'll save our stuff for the regular season this year."

Southern Coaches Set Atlanta Meet ATLANTA (ANP) — The 37th annual meeting of the Southern Coaches and Officials Association will be held Sept. 12-13 in the Booker T. Washington high school gymnasium here. It was announced this week by B. T. Harvey, secretary-treasurer.

While admitting the Attucks "quad isn't as strong as he'd like, Graham thinks the boys will come around."

"We'll win a few," he is confident. The Tigers have been working out twice daily.

'Effigy Hanging' Of Principal Who Banned Players

SEYMOUR — Joe Cull, principal of Seymour high school, was "hanged" in effigy Sunday night after he ruled a player off the school's football squad in a court fight over eligibility.

A temporary court order prohibited the Indiana High School Athletic Association from enforcing its ban against Stevenson and his brother, Billy Joe, from participating in sports at Seymour. The IHSAA ban had been issued on grounds that undue influence was used to induce the Stevenson family to move to Seymour from Illinois.

Cull said Sunday that letting Frank play would mean "complete curtailment" of Seymour's interscholastic sports program.

A sign attached to a dummy found hanging on the gate of the high school athletic field said, "Joe Cull, get out of town." Young Stevenson had been working out on the field earlier.

Naptown Tennis Club to Play in Tri-City Tourney

The Capitol City Tennis club of Indianapolis will journey to Columbus, O., Sunday for a tri-city tourney with Columbus and Louisville.

Possible players for Indianapolis are Marion I. Rice, Leroy Graves, Sam Williams, Sam Hudson, Ferdinand Hardy, Preston Gaddie, Orlando G. Rodman Sr., DeWitt Adams, Vernon Adams and Mesdames Sam Williams, Ruth Butler, Eva Berling and Beatrice Williams.

Indianapolis, after a shaky start, has developed into a strong club and stands an excellent chance of bringing home the Tri-City Trophy.

New York Giants Good Bet For Shot At National Football League Title

By BILL BROWER

CHICAGO (ANP) — Runnerup to the Baltimore Colts in that spine-tingling finale last December at the Polo Grounds, the New York Giants, eastern division kings of the National Football league, are a good bet for another shot at the title this year.

At course, as always, the Giants will have to overcome the Cleveland Browns, but Coach Jim Lee Howell believes he has the personnel, including top-notch tan talent, not only to repeat as division champions but to take all the marbles.

The Giants are counting on Roosevelt Grier to bulkwark the defensive line and Roosevelt Brown to lead the charge on offense. Power fullbacking should be provided again by Mel Triplett.

NEWCOMERS WHO MIGHT make the team, now in training at Winooski, Vt., include Howard Glenn, defensive end; Ellison Kelly, offensive guard; Harry Jefferson and George Scott, offensive halfbacks, and Sid Williams, defensive halfback.

Grier, now a fourth year performer, was a sensation on defense in his rookie season and starred in the Giants' title drive in 1956. He was in the service in 1957, returning to action last year. He attended Penn State.

Brown, strong and as fast as any lineman in the league, is considered the NFL's best downfield blocker. He also reinforces the defense on goal-line stands.

He was an unknown when he was drafted from Morgan State in 1953.

Triplett, former University of Toledo captain, is not only a dangerous runner but a valuable blocker for other runners and passers. With the Giants stressing the passing game more this year, his value is likely to increase proportionately.

In four seasons, Triplett has gained 1,365 yards, an average of almost four yards a crack. Glenn, signed as a free agent after writing and requesting a try-out, played football for Linfield College in Oregon. He is trying to stick as the third defensive end. Jefferson, a former Illinois star, was also signed as a free agent after s'arring in service football. A versatile performer in the college ranks, Jefferson is seeking a place as an offense halfback.

Kelly, drafted No. 5 last season from Michigan State, is rated highly and has size and speed. He was a regular guard for the Spartans for three seasons. Proving his durability, Kelly played 281 minutes in 1958.

Scott, a 180-pounder from Miami (Ohio) University, was 19th on the Giants' draft list this year. He was voted the outstanding back for the Redskins last season.

WITH EM TUNNELL traded to the Green Bay Packers, a place is open in the Giants' famed defensive backfield. That spot could well go to Sid Williams, former Wisconsin quarterback.

At Wisconsin, the talented Williams played also at left halfback and defensive halfback.

He is a chemical engineer, and at Wisconsin was president of the student council and a member of the National Honor Society.

Another Williams, Dolphus from Morgan State, was cut loose by the Giants in early training.

DOWN the ALLEYS With BILL MILTON

The grand opening of the new, modernized bowling alley, the Bowlers Oret, in St. Louis will be celebrated with teams from various states, including three teams from the Fun Bowl in Indianapolis, for the tournament there Sept. 6.

They are: RAINBOW ROOM, Moto Farmer, Robert Young, J. B. Elliott, Bill Milton, Johnny Pillow and A. Vinnegar; WELLS GULF, Dave Hughes, William Ridley, Earl Benson, Lavell Walker, Harry Peters and Earnest Wilson; and BROWN'S ALL-STAR, William Brown, Ray Street, Joe King, T. Moore and Harry Webster.

PREDICTION — Watch these men: Charles Avant, Norris Cooper, Francis Dryden, William Ridley and William Brown.

Looks like the old champ is coming back! I saw Williams Brown make the 1-5-7 split last week in a pot game. His average should go up this year.

How about these Hospital Girls? Lee Elbert, the Beginners League secretary, rolled a high game of 175. Hortense Blair has upped her game 20 pins or more. Neatrice Gilliam is fast developing a beautiful hook ball in six months and is sporting a 125 advantage.

Tommy Hawkins is having trouble staying in front of these Hospital and RCA Girls!

Little Pete the Beautician is faithful as ever, and Ruth Westmoreland again is giving the be-gnners a big hand in forming a league. Thanks to her and her RCA Girls!

THE CLASSIC LEAGUE with Frank Hines as a very nice president, was to start Friday, Sept. 4. I join him in wishing there will be 10 or more teams this year in the league.

Francis Dryden, captain of the St. Rita's team, did a wonderful job last year by winning the league team. Members are Dave Hughes, A. Gaddie, Francis Dryden, William Gooch and Nick Covington.

I'd like to take this time to thank Joe Williams, proprietor of the Rainbow Room, for the banquet he gave in honor of the fellows on the Rainbow team for winning the Commercial Mixed League three years in succession.

The boys think he is a tip-top sponsor and hope for him the very best!

MANCHESTER, England (ANP) — The manager of Hogan (Kid) Bassey, who recently lost in his bid to regain his featherweight crown from Davey Moore in Los Angeles, has advised the Nigerian fighter to quit the ring.

George Biddies told the press, "I don't like to see him cut about the face. He has been severely cut in his last two fights."

With his wonderful record, now is the time to get out."

ARE WE HEADED in the right direction? Kelly Miller, noted Negro educator, once said, "The Negro pays for what he wants and begs for what he needs." These words are as true as they were years ago when spoken by the noted scholar. . . . Here in Naptown the 80,000 Negroes are busy spending millions of dollars yearly ($60,000,000) for everything under the sun and with everybody, their enemies as well as their friends. . . . And the Lord only knows how much he spends for social functions. . . . Every week you read about this top social function or the outstanding event of the social season.

Just suppose these young promoting geniuses would begin promoting something constructive in an economic sort of way. . . . Or can you visualize just what would happen if these beautiful young damsels (used to model fine clothes) were out selling stock in a bank, insurance company, building and loan or supermarkets located over on this side of the tracks? It's always fashion shows, formal dances, cocktail parties and whatnot—all of which enhance the pockets of the other group and only swells the chests of those of us who enjoy basking in the limelight. . . . Why not give one of these smart affairs as a nucleus to opening a ladies ready-to-wear or grocery chain cooperative? Or is this asking too much of the lowly brethren?

SOME OF OUR READERS have chastized this newspaper for being too hard on our police department. . . . They seem to think that we are too eager to put all the blame on our officers whenever anything happens to some member of our group. And that we lay it on thick when a white officer is involved and lighten up when a Negro officer resorts to brutal force.

Now we know that this isn't true. Our reporters gather the facts from police reports at headquarters and from those individuals who come in to complain, plus interviewing the officers involved when this is possible.

We know that among 400 or 500 officers, there must be some bad ones. . . . and among 80,000 Negroes there must be some who entertain an inborn hatred for police officers. So, let's get together and reason this thing out.

Ind. State Fair Offers Rides, Topnotch Shows

Indiana State Fairgoers will have a wide choice of thrilling rides and topnotch shows on the State Fair Gooding's Midway, says Robert H. Weeden, director of Fair publicity and amusements.

Many of Gooding's rides are new to Indianapolis. Among the thrillers are the "Mad Mouse," which incorporates all the thrills and speed of a roller coaster in the darting action of a mouse; the "Paratrooper," which simulates an actual parachute jump; the "Moon Rocket," which goes 45 mph but feels like 150 mph around a 50-foot circular track, and the "Round Up," a huge wheel which tilts to a 90-degree angle but holds its riders by centrifugal force.

For the younger set, there'll be "Helicopter" and "Turnpike" rides. Among the big Midway shows is a Western revue starring singing cowboy Eddie Dean.

'Mr. Personality' Entertains 2,200

ALBUQUERQUE, N. Mex. (ANP)—More than 2,000 rock 'n' rollers, all fans of singer Lloyd Price, "Mr. Personality," packed Tingley Coliseum at the State Fairground last week to hear him sing and to dance to his 13-piece band.

Price, whose "Stagger Lee" and "Mr. Personality" have sold more than one million discs on ABC label, has just completed a successful tour from the "Land Down Under" and at the Flamingo, Las Vegas, Nev.

The band that accompanies Price is the same group which appeared with him on the discs of "Stagger Lee," "Mr. Personality" and his latest, "I Want To Get Married," which is rapidly climbing and is expected to be on par with his other record sales.

When questioned about his latest record, Price said, "I Want To Get Married" is just the title of a song. I am still a bachelor and plan to stay that way for quite some time."

Following the local appearance, the Price group headed for New York City via El Paso, Tex. They were to join Allen Freed, disc jockey at the Fox Theater in Brooklyn Sept. 3 and then tour with Dick Clark for seven weeks throughout the country, including the Dominion of Canada.

Walt Disney's "Old Yeller" is Top Entertainment at Walker Sunday

Terrific screen entertainment for the whole family is provided by "Old Yeller," Walt Disney's latest color-by-Technicolor, live-action hit starring Dorothy McGuire and Fess Parker.

"Old Yeller" is the moving story of a pioneer family in Texas and the yellow stray dog who profoundly affects their lives.

Dorothy McGuire brings a memorable performance to her role of Katie Coates, a young mother who faces wilderness dangers with unflinching courage. Fess Parker enjoys the strongest portrayal of his career as Jim Coates, frontier father who must leave his family in the protection of his teenage son.

Fifteen-year-old Tommy Kirk plays the juvenile hero of "Old Yeller," and seven-year-old Kevin Corcoran enacts his mischievous little brother, Jeff York. Beverly Washburn and Chuck Connors also contribute notable performances. Spike, 115-pound dog of mixed ancestry, has the title role.

DIZZY GILLESPIE, BUCK CLAYTON TO TOUR EUROPE

NEW YORK (ANP)—Dizzy Gillespie and Buck Clayton this month will tour Europe with their jazz groups, accompanied by the popular Dave Brubeck who once turned down a lucrative South African tour because his sideman, a Negro bassist, would have been barred under that country's segregation laws.

The tour, sponsored by the Newport (R.I.) Jazz Festival, includes Sweden, Denmark, Germany, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Italy and Switzerland. It will begin Sept. 8 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Bar Association Lauds Hoffa, Teamsters on Racial Policies

CHICAGO (AP).—One of the little-noticed resolutions passed at the recent convention of the National Bar Association in Milwaukee was a statement lauding the much harassed Teamsters Union and its president, Jimmy Hoffa, for their unbridled racial policies.

The NBA resolution praised the Teamsters for starting an organizational campaign in the South on a non-racial basis and chided the AFL-CIO for floundering on the color line in connection with a number of member unions.

Atty. Augustus G. Parker, Cleveland, spearheaded the discussion which led to the resolution. The group considered the field of fair employment as it relates to unions. The result of the study was a resolution which concluded:

"The National Bar Association welcomes the published announcement of one international union, the Brotherhood of Teamsters, that it has already commenced a campaign in the South to organize Negro and white workers in the oil and textile industries, with equality of wages and equality of union representation."

"We call upon the AFL-CIO to do likewise. In any such effort, we pledge the continuing support of the association."

This resolution came after a report on the Parker study and the committee revealed the following background on the Teamsters' racial policies:

UNDER OUSTED PRESIDENT Dave Beck, Negro truck drivers did not share equality with whites. They were not hired on the big interstate lines to drive the big tractor trailers. Hoffa and Beck often disagreed on this policy, with Hoffa taking up for Negro drivers.

Today, things are different. Negro drivers may be seen in any part of the nation driving the big diesel-powered tractor trailers with all types of cargo. Negroes are in charge of several truck docks, including two in Atlanta.

The Teamsters also have retained a Negro attorney to serve not on a local basis but in national cases.

Currently, the union is in the midst of a drive in New Orleans. At a recent unsegregated meeting there, Hoffa was asked, "How does the Teamsters Union stand on the subject of integration?"

Hoffa answered in part:

"I want to answer by saying first of all that I recognize only one type person in the United States, and that is the American citizen. And I recognize the fact that all blood is red. And I recognize the fact that when we had a war, regardless of race, color or creed, we banded together . . .

"Therefore, I say to you, as an individual, I believe all men are born equal with rights; and whether I get a vote here tonight or not, I will not stand here and tell you that an individual does not have the same rights because of color." Clayton Powell promoted an anti-to all Teamsters locals, recommending that there shall be no discrimination because of race, color or creed" throughout the union.

"As members of the American labor movement," he wrote, "we support every tenet of Americanism. Equal opportunity is one of those tenets."

Recently, the McClellan committee of the U. S. Senate now investigating labor racketeering accused the Teamsters of being biased. Immediately, hundreds of Negro members wired the committee denying the allegation.

IN THE HOUSE, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell promoted an anti-discrimination amendment to the labor bill. He denounced the McClellan committee charges and praised the Teamsters for their racial policies in Detroit where the original charge arose.

Later, it was explained to the committee that the complaint came from action in 1952 when Detroit was considered "a tinderbox of race relations."

Since that time, a representative of the Steel Trucking Employers Association testified, "the International Brotherhood of Teamsters is doing as good a job in the integration of Negroes in their craft as any other labor organization . . .

"I think the McClellan committee did a disservice to Hoffa and the Teamsters union as well as labor practices relating to integration in general."

On the basis of this background, the NBA approved its labor resolution which said in part:

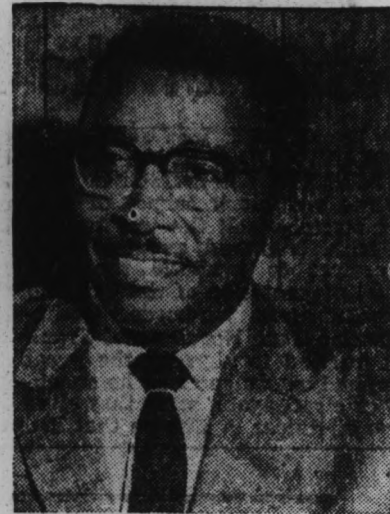

"Integration in public education, public housing and in many other aspects of our national life is becoming a reality."

"The National Bar Association, however, is mindful that the integration of the great mass of Negro workers into the trade union movement, although loudly heralded in the early years of the CIO, has not kept pace with the economic growth of the trade union movement."

TEAMSTERS' LAWYER: Augustus G. Parker, prominent Cleveland attorney, upholds the labor policy of Jimmy Hoffa, president of the Teamsters' Union. Parker, first Negro lawyer to be retained by the union, points out that a National Bar Association resolution recently praised the union for its non-discriminatory activities, especially in the South. (ANP)

HEADS DENTISTS: Dr. H. Medley Dentists, of Helena, Ark., widely-known dentist and civic leader and scion of a prominent Arkansas family, was elected president of the National Dental Association at its recent 46th annual convention in Cincinnati. Dr. Proffitt is noted for upholding the finest traditions, and tenets of his profession. (ANP)

Lorena Jones

Funeral services for Mrs. Lorena Jones, 55, were held Aug. 22 in Peoples Funeral Home, with burial in New Crown cemetery. She died Aug. 19 in her home, 716 1/2 Ogden.

Mrs. Jones was a native of Owensboro, Ky., and had lived in Indianapolis since 1910. She was a member of Corinthian Baptist Church and was formerly employed at the Real Silk Hosiery Mill.

Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Alice Lee of Evansville.

Memphis Negro Record Voting Seen as Beginning of New Era

MEMPHIS (ANP).—Five Negroes ran and lost in the recent city elections here, signaling the first time since Reconstruction that Negroes have sought public office in the Southern city.

The effort, though a losing one, spotlighted what could be the beginning of a new era in politics for Memphis Negroes. And, indeed, it could be the forecast of a new day in the entire South, with white and Negroes cooperating to the polls.

Votes of Negroes helped elect a Jewish mayor, while simultaneously defeating a racist candidate for commissioner of finances and public institutions.

A QUICK RUNDOWN on election results revealed:

1. Five Negroes finished in races for commissioner of public works, tax assessor, juvenile court judge, and two Board of Education posts.

Russell B. Sugarman Jr., 30-year-old lawyer, given the best chance to win among Negro candidates, polled 35,237 votes, tops among Negro office-seekers, only to lose to William W. Farris, 35, who received 58,951 ballots. Sugarman received more votes than three other candidates combined.

Elihu Stankovic polled 25,006 votes, losing to Joe S. Hicks, 74-212, in the tax assessor race.

Rev. Ben L. Hooks, with 32,066 ballots, lost to incumbent Juvenile Court Judge Elizabeth McCain, with 53,654.

Rev. Roy Lane and Henry C. Bunton, 31, 862 and 28,746 respectively, lost to Mesdames Arthur N. Seessell Jr., 54,644, and Lawrence Coe, 55,749, in the education board election.

2. The Volunteer ticket, the Negro organization, ran a white candidate, Jimmy Moore, with Sugarman and other Negro hopefuls on its ticket. Moore, a neophyte politician, was elected commissioner of finance and public institutions because of the full backing of Negro voters.

3. The mayoralty candidate, Henry Loeb, also won because of heavy Negro support.

4. Negroes cooperated and got out a large percentage of voters for the first time.

5. Whites, spurred by the threat of Negro city officials, came out in record numbers to block the possible upset.

Several reasons are given for the success of Negroes at the polls. For one thing, Negroes utilized such quality candidates that they attracted much liberal white support behind the scenes. A. Maceo Walker, a Democrat, and Lieut. George W. Wee, a Republican, headed the basic Volunteer ticket.

Negroes put their money and service behind the effort. An example of the type of candidates is Sugarman, a native Memphian, who studied at Rutgers and Howard Universities. His wife Laurie, worked with him all the way. A graduate of Wellesley College, she plans to earn a master's degree from Johns Hopkins University.

BOY WERE DISAPPOINTED that the young attorney did not win, but agreed he had put up a stiff battle. They added that though the whites won on a basis of numbers, they will have to cater to Negroes for future elections.

The campaign was not all Negro. The Volunteer ticket gave Moore its full support to prevent reelection of Stanley Dillard, an avowed racist. Dillard had been under fire because of his attitude toward the operation of the new John Gaston Hospital and the National to that Collins Chapel no Dr. G. Stanley Ish, civic leader and chief of staff of the Negro hospital, spoke in a radio broadcast on Moore's behalf.

He noted that Gaston Hospital did not train Negro internes, thus forcing young Negro doctors to go to other cities for training and then to practice. He also noted that Blue Cross had been manipulated to that Collins Chapel no longer received those benefits, although it is on the verge of accreditation.

With Negro support, Moore pulled an upset.

After losing to Moore, Dillard is quoted as saying:

"I was defeated by the Negro vote. I am a segregationist, but this election proves one thing. No segregationist will win an election in Memphis in the future."

ROCKEFELLER ASKED TO SUPPORT NYC SLUM REPAIR BILL

NEW YORK (ANP).—Manhattan Borough President Hulan E. Jack has asked Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to give support to a measure which will enable the city to repair slum houses and charge the bills to negligent landlords.

"Gov. Rockefeller must be told that the state legislature was negligent in not passing legislation which would have enabled the city to take action against these slum landlords," Jack said.

He made the announcement after he had toured a group of Harlem buildings, accompanied by three city officials.

Asthma and Hay Fever Relief Comes in Minutes ...and Lasts For Hours

Tiny Tablet Now Available Without Prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special).—Medical Science has developed a new, tiny tablet that not only stops asthma spasms, but brings relief to those who suffer from hay fever attacks. Authoritative tests proved this remarkable compound brings relief in minutes—and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed by doctors for their private patients who suffer from asthma or hay fever. And now sufferers can obtain this formula—without prescription—in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called Primatene.

N. Y., Fla. Demos Tangle Over D. C. Home Rule Issue

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ANP).—A New York Democrat and a Florida Democratic congressman recently tangled at the fifth home rule hearing during the current session of Congress.

The verbal melee took place in the House District Committee where the hearings have been on-again-off-again for many weeks. Only three of the 23 scheduled witnesses had time to talk. The rest were asked to return next week.

One witness, A. L. Wheeler, chairman of the District Democratic Central Committee, was testifying when he mentioned something about the discharge petition filed by New York Representative Multer.

Rep. Mathews, Florida, snapped that he had no respect for the opinion of anyone who favored Multer's petition aimed to pry the home rule legislation from the District committee.

He claimed that Multer's petition was "so abominable that he withdrew it."

MULTER COUNTERED that he had not withdrawn the petition, that it still rests on the Speaker's desk—and it is not abominable.

It is generally believed that home rule is opposed by Southerners because they fear the power of the Negro vote. This, however, has never been openly discussed in committee hearings this session.

In a series of broadcasts a few weeks ago, this question of races was discussed openly by some of the congressional and civic leaders.

John R. Duncan, recorder of deeds and highest ranking Negro in the District government, denied race is the major factor in the home rule con-trovercy. He recalled that he came to Washington 32 years ago when the Negro population was only 25 percent. Even then there was a fight about home rule.

Rep. McMillan (D., S. C.), chairman of the House District Committee, also denied race is a factor. He said he had never heard a committee member say he was opposed to home rule because of the Negro population.

Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat, charged bluntly that a coalition of "reactionary Republican and Democratic forces" have blocked home rule for years because a large percentage of the Washington population is colored.

J. Joseph Donahue, former District commissioner, felt that opposition to home rule stemmed from fear that the predominantly large Negro population might lead to a Negro-dominated legislative assembly or that a Negro might be governor.

THE SOUTHERN FIGHT is not surprising, but proponents of home rule legislation were surprised that the first American of Japanese ancestry to take a seat in Congress would oppose home rule.

Rep. Inouye of Hawaii, the territory which had to fight for years for its statehood, came to the House opposed to complete home rule for Washingtonians.

"The local yokels," he said, "are not stable enough to govern themselves under the limited territorial status proposed in legislation now before Congress."

"Sidelights" . . . . . business, industry and labor

By WM. A. CHAMBERS

WALTER E. WOLF, president of H. P. WASSON and COMPANY, has announced the opening of a new branch store in the Meadows Shopping Center at 38th and Meadows Drive. The Wasson chain was the first major department store to move into the new nationally known Eastgate Shopping Center about two years ago.

The Meadows store of the Wasson chain will be located in the large salesroom formerly occupied by Turners, Inc. Sales floor space in the new store will be increased considerably, and new display fixtures installed throughout the store. Louis C. Wolf, first vice-president and merchandise manager of the firm, stated:

E. H. DECKMAN, assistant manager of aircraft sales and contracts, is among five Allison Division (GMC) sales and service representatives departing for South America on Sept. 3.

The tour will be made aboard a new Allison-powered Lockheed Electra luxury liner, a 23-day demonstration tour of South America and Mexico.

Other sales and service representatives making the tour include Russell S. Stanley, representing the airline group, and Luther W. Stear Jr. of Zionsville, manager of airline operations engineering. Also aboard will be E. E. Eichler, Burbank, Calif., Allison service representative, and Lester S. Peipiot, also of Burbank, service representative for Allison Division's Aero-products Operations.

Nine world airlines already have a total of 76 Allison-powered Electras in service and five other carriers will begin phasing the fast transports into their route structures within coming months.

B. F. DeHays Jr. has succeeded W. D. Cairns in the position of manager of the product addition studies department at Ed Lilly and Company. Mr. Cairns recently was named manager of Lilly's Boston District.

Mr. DeHays, formerly a salesman in West Virginia for the company, was transferred to the home office in 1954. Since early last year he has been the medical projects co-ordinator in the medical administration division. He is a native of Columbus, O., a graduate of Ohio State University and a registered pharmacist in his home state. He joined Lilly's in 1947. ## Gov't Employment Committee Third Report 'Encouraging'

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ANP) — Nearly 3,000 top federal administrators in 27 cities across the nation have participated in conferences aimed at implementing and fortifying the government's non-discrimination policy, according to a recent report of the President's Committee on Government Employment Contracts.

The conferences are discussed in the third report of the President's committee, submitted to President Eisenhower last week. They formed only a part of the committee's program of assisting federal departments and agencies to enforce the President's policy which prohibits discrimination in federal employment on the basis of race, color, religion or national origin.

According to Committee Chairman Archibald J. Carey Jr., "The field conferences are only one means by which this committee has encouraged administrators of federal agencies to make the non-discrimination policy a more effective part of government operations."

"IN MEETING WITH these groups of administrators," he said, "we have come to grips with the myths and fears which are responsible for employment discrimination and have provided practical measures for making the policy effective."

F. A. SWANSON recently was named regional director here for Dial Finance Company's Indiana offices. He was formerly at Des Moines, Ia., and Omaha, Neb. In his new position he will make his home in this city.

He joined the finance company's staff in 1946.

The firm has loans outstanding totaling more than $57 million and operates in 20 states. Mr. Swanson will supervise Dial offices in this city, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Gary and Hammond, Ind., Cincinnati and Covington, Ky.

DR. G. H. RAWLS, a former medical officer of the U. S. Army in Newfoundland, recently opened offices at 1540 Columbia. He will practice general surgery. He is a graduate of Florida A. and M. and Howard University.

Dr. Rawls has a background of four years of residence in surgery at the VA Hospital, Dayton, and he served two years as an assistant instructor in surgery at the Ohio State University Medical School.

JOHANNESBURG (ANP) — There will be no change in the government's policy of apartheid, it was announced recently, following rumors that plans for changing the pattern of segregation of the races in the Ciskei area of eastern Cape province were underway.

1958, to June 3, 1959, and discussed the committee's treatment of complaints and its service as a research and advisory group to agencies on the non-discrimination program.

Next Miss. Governor for Open Supreme Court Defiance

JACKSON, Miss. (ANP) — Ross Barnett, 60-year-old lawyer who advocates open defiance of the U. S. Supreme Court's desegregation rulings, won the Democratic nomination for the gubernatorial seat of this state last week.

The nomination almost assures election in November.

Barnett, throughout his campaign argued against "moderation of the race issue." He took the lead in voting when initial returns in the precinct began rolling in. His margin over Lieut. Gov. Carroll Gartin, 47, grew steadily as he returns continued pouring in.

He won the nomination despite endorsement of Gartin by Gov. J. P. Coleman and former Gov. Fugh White. Most of the state's daily newspapers also supported Gartin.

Barnett has pledged to close Mississippi schools rather than see them integrated.

He and Gartin, who made the same pledge, are both members of the segregationist White Citizens Council.

Barnett often expressed praise and admiration for the way Arkansas Gov. Faubus handled the

An open invitation to the Steel Union:

Join us in a forward step

Steel companies are spending billions of dollars to modernize mills, methods and products.

But America, the world's greatest steel user, can never enjoy the full benefits of this multi-billion dollar program until the steel companies' labor agreements are as modern as the machinery in the mills.

The steel companies extend this invitation to the Union:

Join us in taking a forward step to help reduce wasteful, out-of-date practices; help pave the way for increased production, improved productivity, and resulting savings which can be shared by employees, stockholders and the public—without contributing to inflation.

Specifically, we have asked the Union to cooperate with us in:

1. Improving the language and the spirit of the labor agreements to bring them up-to-date with modern operations and to reduce causes of misunderstanding and friction that have developed in the past;
2. Protecting thousands of innocent workers by discouraging irresponsible acts of a lawless few who engage in unauthorized or "wildcat" strikes;
3. Retarding further inflation by dropping the experimental cost-of-living adjustment clause in the 1956 agreements. This clause, intended to spare steelworkers from the effects of inflation, has proven to be itself inflationary and thus self-defeating. All of the 17¢ an hour added to wage rates under the clause since 1956 would be retained.

These contract changes, accompanied by a cooperative attitude on the Union's part, would, we believe, pave the way to enable the companies to generate new economic progress to be shared with their employees.

Accordingly, in return for agreement on these contract changes we have offered to negotiate a non-inflationary two-year agreement providing an increase in pension and insurance benefits this year, and a modest increase in wages next year.

Such an agreement would place the steel companies in a stronger position to compete with other materials and with imports of foreign-made steel... It would give employees improved benefits, higher wages and greater job security... It would help hold the line against inflation.

This proposal does not threaten the basic rights of Union members in any way.

The companies recognize that the Union has a responsibility—and a legal right—to represent the interests of its members. The Union, on its part, should recognize that the companies have the right and obligation to manage their plants to the maximum benefit of employees, shareholders, and the public.

In these modern times, with great progress already achieved and even greater progress visible on the horizon, cooperation—not opposition—is the mark of real leadership.

Only with a cooperative attitude on the part of the Union and its leadership can the steel industry fully meet the needs of America and help curb inflation.

We urge the Union to join us in taking this forward step.
